BLAME FOR STRIKE THROWN BY REPORT ON LONGSHOREMEN

Mr. Justice Davis Finds Men Were Not Locked Out But Struck Deliberately—Action Was Breach Of Existing Agreement—Majority Were Misled by Unsound Leadership

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (C.)—Responsibility for the waterfront tie-up in Vancouver was placed upon the shoulders of the striking longshoremen in the report of Mr. Justice H. H. Davis of the Supreme Court of Canada, who investigated the trouble in the Coast port. The report was made public today.

Mr. Justice Davis found that the men were on "strike," not locked out; that the Powell River Company, Limited, was not unfair to labor; that other unions went on strike without proper inquiry into the longshore dispute in Vancouver; that the setting up of dispatching by the union was in defiance of their agreement, and that the great majority of the men were "misled" by "unsound and destructive leadership."

HIGHLIGHTS OF REPORT

Highlights of Mr. Justice Davis' report are:

Refusal to handle Powell River cargo was "a deliberate breach of the existing agreement of the longshoremen, which entitled the Shipping Federation to declare the agreemen at an end on June 4."

Apart from questions arising from the agreement, the Powell River cargo was not an unfair cargo.

Refusal of the Vancouver and District Waterfront Workers' Association to handle Powell River cargo and their course of conduct constituted a deliberate strike and they were not locked out.

Some 1,500 men belonging to other organizations who had gone on sympathetic strikes had no dispute with their own employers and made no proper and sufficient inquiry into the real facts of the longshoremen's dispute at Vancouver.

Distribution of surplus work among "extra" or "basement men" by the Shipping Federation was consistent not only with the provisions of the existing agreement, but with

POLITICIANS TO COME TO TRIAL

Gambling Scandal in Spain Brings Public Officials Into the Courts

MADRID, Oct. 28 (AP).—The Cortes voted tonight to hand over to the courts for trial seven of eight public officials named by a parliamentary commission as implicated in the 500,000 peseta gambling casino scandal.

The eighth official, Mayor Salazar Alonso, of Madrid, was suspended from official duties along with the other seven. Some deputies said they believed it likely he would be reinstated.

Fiery debate over the scandal, which was assertedly disclosed when Daniel Strauss, a Mexican citizen, alleged he had turned over about $68,000 to eight prominent politicians, in return for gambling concessions, continued many hours today.

PROPHESY CRISIS

Prominent Rightist leaders prophesied a governmental crisis would occur at a Cabinet session scheduled for noon tomorrow.

The seven officials for whom court trials were voted, were former Deputy Aurelio Lerroux, a nephew of Foreign Minister Alejandro Lerroux; Deputy Sigfrido Blasco Ibanez, son of the noted writer; Jose Balbibia, former director of security; Eduardo Benzo Cano, former undersecretary of the interior; Santiago Binardell, director of the Spanish tourist bureau in Paris; Miguel Galante, chief of the special presidencia police bureau, and Juan Pickypons, Governor-General of Catalonia.

IN TRAINING FOR STRONG-BOY ACT

Six-Year-Old Tears Pack of Playing Cards and Lifts One Hundred And Fifty Pounds

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (C.)—Charles Lewis Fuchs is six years old today and among the birthday presents his father, Otto, promises is a telephone book.

Charlie was given the telephone book, about one and a half inches thick here, so he could practice tearing it in half, because Charlie is one of those strong-boy prodigies.

His father, a professional physical culture teacher, had the press down to the house yesterday and Charlie performed by tearing a pack of fifty-two playing cards in two and lifting a 150-pound weight (three times his own heft).

KETCH PILES UP ON ROCKS

Trial Run of Treasure-Hunt Ship Ends in Disaster At Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (C.).—The auxiliary ketch Windward remained hard and fast on the rocks near Kitsilano Indian Reserve tonight while her owner, Erskine Nichol, remained silent on interrupted plans for a treasure hunt to Cocos Island.

Nichol, with his wife and two companions, took the trim craft out on a trial run preparatory to leaving for Cocos Island, when the engine failed, the mainmast crashed and the ketch piled up on the rocks.

IS BADLY DAMAGED

The ship was badly damaged and personal effects and special equipment on board for the Cocos Island expedition are practically a total loss. A salvage company examined the Windward today and announced she was badly damaged, but not a total loss.

The vessel was not insured and Nichol would not disclose whether he would have the boat repaired and complete plans for the treasure hunt or not.

Walter Creasy and A. Munro were with the Nichols on the trial run. Creasy and Mr. and Mrs. Nichols rowed ashore last night in the Windward's skiff, leaving Munro in charge. During the night the ketch was battered by heavy seas and early today Munro swam ashore.

Anyox Plant Is Purchased By Smelters

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (C.).—Charles Bocking, president of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Company, Limited, stated tonight that his company's entire plant and property at Anyox has been purchased by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, Limited.

Mr. Bocking stated he had nothing to say in regard to the use that Smelters would make of the plant. All he could say was that the deal had been completed between the two companies and that Smelters was to take immediate possession.

No mention was made of the price involved.

BARRED FROM THE MAILS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP).—The Postoffice Department today barred 155 foreign sweepstakes operators from using the United States mails. "Fraud orders" were issued against the operators, seventy-six of whom are located in the Province of Quebec.

Wrecked at Kitsilano Beach

The auxiliary ketch Windward, owned by Erskine Nichol, last night was reported to be breaking up on the rocks of Kitsilano Beach, Vancouver, after she ran ashore there during a trial run preparatory to a treasure hunting expedition to Cocos Island.

Offensive Opened In Campaign for British Election

Stanley Baldwin Joins Ramsay MacDonald in Advocating Foreign Policy Based on League Covenant—Co-operation, Localization of Conflict, Defence Reinforcement Urged

LONDON, Oct. 28 (C.).—Government leaders took the offensive in the general election campaign tonight, while the Independent Labor party issued a manifesto attacking both the Government and the Labor party, of which it was formerly a part.

In the first of his four major platform speeches, Prime Minister Baldwin promised that Great Britain would not lead the world in a new armament race. He joined with former Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in advocating a foreign policy based entirely on the Covenant of the League of Nations.

Speaking at Wolverhampton, the Prime Minister declared that Great Britain would never attempt a blockade of Italy without the aid of other neutral countries.

BITTEREST IRONY

"It would be the bitterest and cruelest irony of history," he said, "if the League of Nations, seeking to enforce respect for peace at a given point in the world, succeeded only in firing the world, unleashing war from one pole to another."

The Prime Minister emphasized three points:

1. Co-operation with Europe.
2. The need to localize the present Italo-Ethiopian conflict.
3. The need to reinforce the British defences.

"If our isolated islands refused to play their role in the world, it would be necessary to make an armed camp of Great Britain, and abandon all hope of social progress," warned Mr. Baldwin.

HOPE NOT LOST

There is yet no reason to lose hope, he declared.

"We are devoting all our efforts to

MARCHERS ON MINE WOUNDED

One Killed When Fusilade Is Poured Into Caravan Of Sympathizers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 28 (AP).—Six union miners were wounded as a fusilade of shots was poured into a caravan of strike sympathizers moving on two coal mines operated by non-union labor today. A seventh was found dead near the scene.

St. Claire County officers threw a heavy guard about the two mines—the Margaret and the Acmar—tonight to preserve order. An investigation of the clash was started.

Police said they endeavored to dissuade the miners from making a march on the mines. They had congregated at Lewisburg to go to St. Claire County to organize the two mines, which operate with non-union miners. As the line of cars drew near the mine, a man with a pump-type shotgun stepped out and halted them, said Mack Padgett, one of those wounded. Then, he added, they started turning around.

"All of a sudden," Padgett told the deputies, "a barrage of shots was turned loose on us from the mountainside."

JAPAN ACCEPTS INVITATION

TOKIO, Oct. 29 (AP).—The Cabinet approved today the note accepting the invitation from Great Britain to a naval conference, planned to be held on December 2 in London.

Uses Militia Rule To Seize Control of State Department

Governor of South Carolina Sends Guardsmen, Armed With Machine Guns, to Enforce Order Oust Highway Board

COLUMBIA, S.C., Oct. 28 (AP).—Militia rule was used by Governor Olin D. Johnston today to seize control of a hostile state highway department which he declared was in a "state of insurrection."

The thirty-eight-year-old executive sent sixty-one National Guardsmen with four machine guns to enforce his order against the "insurrection."

He announced his action in a proclamation and statement saying military force was necessary to remove the fourteen commissioners and Chief Commissioner Ben M. Sawyer since they had "set up a supreme government," above the governor, Legislature and people.

Waging a fight he began six years ago as a youthful representative in the South Caarolina Legislature, Johnston announced he was taking charge of road affairs "to end trickery and subterfuge, favoritism and irregularities."

He cited his inaugural demand, unanswered, for the entire commission to resign; his unsuccessful legislative battle to oust the Board of Enactment; and testimony at removal proceedings against three commissioners in saying he acted "for the people" when all other means had failed.

Plebiscite Will Be Taken During Civic Election

A PLEBISCITE on the question of whether Victorians want daylight saving time next Summer will be taken at the polls when the civic election is held the second Thursday in December. This action was decided upon at last night's meeting of the City Council, on a motion sponsored by Alderman Archie Wills, who championed the fight last Spring for daylight saving.

DISAPPEARED UNDER FLOOD

Whole Towns Vanished in Haiti—Appalling Loss of Life Confirmed

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Oct. 28 (AP).—Belated stories of how whole towns vanished under flood waters tended tonight to confirm estimates that as many as 2,000 persons perished or were missing in the hurricane which ravaged Haiti's southern peninsula last week.

Mountain streams, emptying near Jeremie and Jacmel, wrought hideous damage, these reports indicated.

WIPED RIGHT OUT

Flood waters on the River Ans, near Jeremie, were reported to have completely wiped out the town of Marfrance, with many of its 500 inhabitants drowned.

On the same stream, three-quarters of the town of Moron disappeared, although most of the inhabitants were believed to have saved themselves. Its population was 1,500. At Jacmel, where the hydro-electric plant was reported destroyed, ninety-six bodies were recovered.

Suburbs of Jeremie, on the north shore, were inundated and a steel and concrete bridge carried away.

IN THE TREETOPS

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Oct. 28 (AP).—Floods resulting from the rain and windstorms of the past three days have marooned more than one-third of the inhabitants of the village of Chamelecon in treetops and in nearby hills, reports from there said today.

More than one thousand rescued families have reached San Pedro. Most of the towns and villages in the district are under seven feet of water.

The city of Progreso is also under water, and the residents, warned by the Government that flood threatened the area, took to the mountains and the town of Tela. A number are marooned in the area, it was reported, including North Americans.

THOUSANDS OF GEESE IN AIR

Take to Flight Before Destroyed in Potential Niagara Death Trap

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Oct. 28 (AP).—Thousands of geese which man had been unable to frighten out of a natural death trap in the swift waters above Niagara Falls suddenly flew away this afternoon and tonight only a few hundred were chancing a deadly ride over the falls.

Conservationists, ready to send planes roaring over the geese in an attempt to frighten them from the dangerous river, sighed with relief as the birds began to take wing. It had been feared another night struggling with the swift current would so weaken them that many would be carried over the falls. This had happened to about 200 of them since they "landed" here on Saturday night.

The present flock, which included some brant, swans and ducks, was estimated at between 5,000 and 10,000. Apparently they were part of a great migration flight southward.

The stubborn birds refused to be frightened into the air by rockets, shotguns and searchlights.

PUTTING WIRE FENCE ROUND JASPER COURSE

JASPER, Alta., Oct. 28 (C.).—No more will the sharp hoofs of elk damage the velvety perfection of the greens on the famed Jasper Park Lodge golf course. A nine-foot wire fence is being built around the entire course.

THEY TOOK THE BEST

MONTREAL, Oct. 28 (C.).—Only the best of things were stolen from the home of Nicholas Sekack. Over the week-end thieves made off with a refrigerator, chesterfield suite, curtains and Nick's best clothes.

OVERCOME FIRE IN SHIP'S HOLD

Vancouver Firemen Extinguish Smouldering Coal—Dockers in Danger

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (C.).—City firemen tonight brought under control fire which has been burning for several days in the coal bunkers of the British tramp steamer Frederika Lensen.

Two firemen were left on board with water lines while the ship's crew continued shifting the reserve supply of coal away from the still smoldering bunker where the fire broke out.

Underwriters will make a survey of the ship tomorrow, after which it is expected the vessel will be put into drydock here for repairs. The engineroom is blackened by smoke and flames, woodwork of passageways has been charred badly, and the starboard side, from the waterline to the upper deck, is bulged from the heat and water and the force of an explosion when an oil tank blew up.

A NARROW ESCAPE

A gang of longshoremen escaped injury, leaving the hold where the tank was located five minutes before the explosion. They had been removing coal from the affected bunker when the ship's light plant failed, and they went ashore until auxiliary lines were rigged up.

Firemen fought the fire wearing gas masks to protect them from the heavy coal gases.

NEW PLAN DRAFTED TO MEET DUCE'S GREED FOR TERRITORY

Pope Initiating Pressure on Italian Government in Strenuous Effort to Halt Conflict in Ethiopia—Great Britain Sees Increasing Signs of Stiffening Attitude Towards Italy

Austria Regarded as Only Possible Gap in Barrier

(Copyright, 1935, by the Havas News Agency)

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Usually reliable sources indicated tonight British and French colonial experts have drafted a plan aimed to meet Premier Mussolini's territorial ambitions. It is understood, however, it would deprive Il Duce of his desired protectorate over Tigre Province and of a link joining Eritrea and Italian Somaliland.

The proposal was understood to include these points:

1. Appointment of an Italian adviser to Haile Selassie, under whom an Italian governor would administer virtually the entire southern half of Ethiopia in the Negus' name.

FRONTIER REVISION

2. Frontier revision in Tigre and Danakil Provinces, these territories to be administered by the League of Nations.

3. An Ethiopian outlet to the sea in Eritrea, with a strip of Ethiopian territory leading to this port.

4. Foreign legions commanded by Italian officers to patrol the border territories adjoining Eritrea and Italian Somaliland, disarming the natives, abolishing slavery and maintaining law and order.

Informed quarters also said here tonight Pope Pius XI was making strenuous efforts to halt the Italo-Ethiopian conflict through secret negotiations.

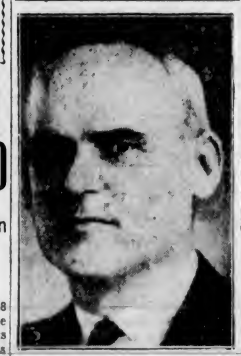

VATICAN'S PRESSURE

Considerable pressure has been brought to bear on the Italian Government in an effort to induce it to give Ethiopia a seaport in Eritrea with full sovereignty, it was understood. The Vatican was represented as believing this would satisfy Emperor Haile Selassie as a fair exchange for territorial concessions to Italy.

At the same time, these sources said, the Vatican's diplomatic representatives in all the capitals concerned have been instructed to draw

MONTREAL BLAST TAKES TWO LIVES

Third Man Is Seriously Injured When Tank Explodes With Terrific Force

MONTREAL, Oct. 28 (C.).—Explosion of a steam-generating tank used in the removal of wallpaper brought instant death in a private home here today to two men and serious injuries to a third. Windows and walls were smashed by the force of the explosion, while large pieces of steel were hurled through the ceiling.

The dead are Jean-Emile Ayotte and Isidore Janvier, thirty.

The injured man is Moise Janvier, thirty-five, brother of Isidore, who is in critical condition in hospital.

RESIGNS BY REQUEST

EDMONTON, Oct. 28 (C.).—Sixth department head or highest officer to be dismissed since the Social Credit Government took over in Alberta, W. D. McLean, King's printer for nearly ten years, resigned today at the request of Hon. Charles Cockroft, Provincial Treasurer. The resignation is effective November 1.

CASTS VOTE TO END TIE

Independent-Liberal Elected In Quebec Riding by Returnings Officer's Ballot

AMOS, Que., Oct. 28 (C.).—Only dead heat of the Dominion election was decided here tonight by the casting vote of the returning officer, and Frank Blais, Independent-Liberal, was elected member of Parliament for Chapleau by that ballot.

Official recount of ballots by the returning officer showed Blais and T. A. Lalonde, Liberal, tied for the leadership in a four-cornered fight for the seat, created by the Redistribution Act of 1933.

Returning Officer Olympe Plante then cast the deciding vote in favor of Blais. He was required under Section 68 of the Dominion Election Act to cast a ballot to break the deadlocked contest.

HAD BEEN CONCEDED

On election night, October 14, the Canadian Press returns showed Blais in a small lead and his election was conceded by Liberal party headquarters for the province. However, ballots from scattered points of the huge constituency gave Lalonde a lead of seventy-five votes last week.

Tonight, with still other ballot boxes in from the north and with the absentee votes available the returning officer held his official recount, the tie resulting, Blais and Lalonde polling 3,094 votes each.

No announcement was made tonight as to whether or not Lalonde would apply for a judicial recount, but it was anticipated in view of the closeness of the race the courts would be asked to decide.

Is Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (C.).—An Assize Court jury tonight convicted Ernest Banks of manslaughter in connection with the death last July of Armando Moro, twenty-year-old Italian.

Moro was struck on the head with a heavy weapon while interfering in a dog fight in Hogan's Alley. The Crown charged that Banks had struck the blow with a wrench.

Former Judge Slain By Man He Sent to Jail Six Years Ago

Assailant Wounds Two Others and Shoots at Two Stenographers in Chicago Office Before Turning Gun on Himself

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP).—The broodings of a twisted mind over a fancied unmerited jail sentence erupted into a fusillade of bullets today that killed former Judge William R. Fetzer, wounded two other men, and ended the life of Raymond Lanning, thirty-two, their assailant.

Apparently obsessed with the idea that it must be five lives for one, Lanning also shot William L. Hawthorne, a court reporter, and Nathan Weintroob, twenty-eight, a clerk in Fetzer's office, and attempted to shoot two stenographers before he turned the gun on himself. He died at Pridewell Hospital.

Fetzer, who imposed a jail sentence on the slayer in 1929, was Lanning's first target. The sixty-two-year-old lawyer, who had long been active in Republican politics here, was shot through the heart and wounded on the chin, when the crazed man burst into his private office.

A manuscript which Lanning carried and a note found in his pockets at the hospital both indicated he had long dramatized his own conviction and planned revenge.

COLD AND SNOW FORECAST HERE

Cold weather, with occasional snowfall, was the forecast for the next twenty-four hours, announced last night by F. Napier Denison, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory. Fresh to strong northerly winds will continue.

The barometer remains abnormally high over the Yukon and Northern British Columbia, and decidedly cold weather is spreading southward over British Columbia, and is also becoming general over the Prairie Provinces.

SCREEN STARS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mae Marsh, Gordon Wescott And Adolphe Menjou in Critical Condition

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 28 (AP).—Two stricken film players, Mae Marsh and Gordon Wescott, were believed near death tonight, and a third, Adolphe Menjou, was in a serious condition, hospital physicians reported.

Miss Marsh, the blonde actress who won fame years ago in the silent motion picture epic, "Birth of a Nation," was gravely ill from gangrene poisoning following a rupture of the appendix. Physicians would not predict her recovery.

FALLS FROM HORSE

Wescott, recruited from the Broadway and London stage in 1932 for film roles, was "in immediate danger" from a hemorrhage at the base of the skull, suffered in a polo fall yesterday. He was still unconscious at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Debonair Adolphe Menjou, suffering from a chronic stomach ailment, was given a blood transfusion yesterday.

OTHERS ON SICK LIST

Other filmland notables on the sick list included Buster Keaton, patient at the National Military Home Hospital, who was registering improvement after a nervous breakdown, and John Barrymore, in seclusion at his home, where he was recovering from a severe cold and an attack of "nerves."

TWO FLURRIES OF SNOW IN SEATTLE

Puget Sound City Has First October Snowfall in Fifty-Two Years

SEATTLE, Oct. 28 (AP).—Snow flurries brought an early taste of Winter weather today. Fluffy flakes fell twice in Seattle, in the early morning when the temperature hit the season's low of 36 degrees above zero, and again in midafternoon. They melted as they hit the ground. It was the first October snow here since 1893.

Enumclaw reported four inches of snow; Sumas three inches and Glacier an even inch. Traffic continued over Stevens Pass today despite nearly half a foot of snow at Scenic and Skykomish.

Is Seeking Suitable Date for Meeting of Provincial Leaders

Premier King Expects to Arrange Conference in November—Is Not Ready to Comment on Important Federal Problems

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (C.P.).—Provincial Governments are being canvassed to ascertain the most suitable date for the proposed Dominion-Provincial conference, Prime Minister King stated tonight, following a long session of Cabinet Council. He expects to arrange the meeting in November.

Considerable progress has been made on the numerous tasks facing the Government, Mr. King said, but he was not ready to comment on various matters which had been under consideration today.

Questioned as to the departure Friday of Senator Raoul Dandurand for England, Mr. King said the Government leader in the Senate was on a purely private mission and his visit to Europe had no political significance.

The Prime Minister was not yet in a position, he said, to comment on such outstanding questions as the Canada-United States trade treaty, the trade dispute with Japan, future of the Canadian Wheat Board or provincial financing.

Finance Minister Dunning was in his office today for the first time since he was sworn in with the Government last Wednesday, and he spent part of the day becoming acquainted with the staff and the quarters which he occupied for less than a year in 1929-30. It will be his responsibility as Minister of Finance to take up the matter of trade negotiations with the United States which were interrupted by the general election and have not yet been resumed.

HAS KNOTTY PROBLEM

Mr. Dunning will also be called upon to deal with the knotty problem of loans to Western provinces and to administer the Housing Act, farm loans, Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, and the Bank of Canada.

Cabinet sessions will be held almost daily while the Government is engaged in dealing with current problems and initiating new policies.

OPEN OFFENSIVE IN ELECTION CAMPAIGN

persuading other nations to adopt our policy. We have hitched our wagon to a star.

"It was never a question of big armaments or a marked increase in our forces, nor is it now, nor will it ever be.

"What we wish to do, and should do, is to replace pre-war ships by modern vessels."

Opening his campaign here as leader of the National Labor Party, which continues to support the National Government, former Prime Minister MacDonald urged that "steps should be taken at once to make it possible to arrive at an international economic agreement which would revive international trade."

PREVENTED SUCCESS

Without specifying any nation, Mr. MacDonald said some had prevented success of the World Economic Conference in 1933, of which he was president.

"Those responsible for the failure of the last attempt have had enough experience since to make them more helpful in the next," he declared.

The League of Nations he described as the cornerstone of world peace.

"Let us carry on our labors at Geneva, not only because we signed the Covenant, but also because we see the whole peace system threatened with ruin," he said.

COMING REORGANIZATION

At Manchester, Sir Herbert Samuel, Liberal leader, said he had heard reports of another Cabinet reorganization in the near future. Winston Churchill was to supplant Mr. MacDonald, with power to co-ordinate the three defence ministries—the Admiralty, the War Office and the Air Ministry.

The Independent Labor Party manifesto charged both the Government and the Labor Party with pursuing policies that "lead straight to war."

With almost 1,300 candidates already in the field, the campaign is now in full swing throughout the whole country.

Hail Probable Return of Monarchy

Cheers and music, hand-waving and placards show that this crowd of royalists is most anxious to have ex-King George return to the throne of Greece. The royalists marched through the streets of Athens after the resignations of the Republican President and Premier had been revealed. A plebiscite on the question is to be held November 3, and observers believe that George's return to the throne will be made a certainty. General Kondylis, the "strong man of Greece" (below, second from left), turned Premier M. Tsaldaris out of office and established himself as Premier and regent pending the return to the throne of ex-King George. He is photographed after his military coup, with the members of his Government, Admiral Ikonomen (left), General Repar and General Tapago.

DIRECTORS GIVE Y.M.C.A. REPORTS

J. O Cameron States Institution Making Fair Progress in Difficult Times

In spite of difficult times, the Y.M.C.A. is holding its own and is making fairly good progress, J. O Cameron reported last evening at a directors' meeting. H. B. Witter presided.

Frank Paulding reported that an agreement had been reached with the Provincial Government for use of the Y.M.C.A. for physical education classes.

J. V. Johnson's statement for the psysical department showed attendance of 1,236 at seventy-three sessions of twenty-one classes during September.

Dealing with the house committee report, J. A. Bennett said that the Women's Auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A. was interested in a plan to partition the lobby for a social hall, at a cost of $175.

WELL ATTENDED

The educational committee's report, presented by E. G. Rowebottom, mentioned that public speaking classes were exceptionally well attended. Advisability of starting courses in economics and Chinese were being investigated, he said.

W. T. Straith, dealing with boys' division, stated that forty sessions of nine classes resulted in an attendance of 639 during September. He believed that the recent acquisition of a permanent camp site at Glinz Lake would add to the popularity of the Y.M.C.A.

MISS V. WORSLEY PASSES IN CITY

Sister of Colonel G. S Worsley Dies Following an Illness of Two Years

Miss Violet A. Worsley passed away early yesterday morning at the home of her brother, Colonel G. S. Worsley, 670 Mountjoy Avenue, following an illness of two years. Miss Worsley had been a resident of Victoria for four years and had spent the greater part of her life in Eastern and Western Canada.

Miss Worsley was born in Kingston, Ontario, in 1878, and when a child was taken to Halifax, where she was educated in the Convent of the Sacred Heart. In later years she became accomplished in vocal and instrumental music. Her father was Colonel P. W. Worsley, of the 60th Rifles. Her mother was the daughter of Hon. L. V. Sicotte, a former Premier of Quebec.

RESIDED IN WEST

In 1901 Miss Worsley came West to make her home with her brother who, before retirement, had been associated with the Royal Northwest Mounted Police for thirty-four years. She resided in Edmonton, Calgary, Ottawa, Fort Saskatchewan and Regina. During her sixteen years' residence in Regina, she gave generously of her talents and her friendship. Her work with the Red Cross during the war was outstanding, and she took an active part in many organizations formed for war work in Canada. She was president of the lady patronesses of the Grey Nuns Hospital at Regina, succeeding the late Mrs. R. Rinnner, with whom she had been associated in the activities of the Catholic Women's League.

She is survived by three brothers, C. L. Worsley, manager, Bank of Montreal, Ottawa; Colonel G. S. Worsley, Victoria, and G. P. Worsley, late manager of the Bank of Montreal, Saint John, N.B., and one sister, Mrs. F. H. Russell, of Toronto.

FUNERAL TOMORROW

The funeral will be held tomorrow, the cortege leaving 670 Mountjoy Avenue at 10 a.m., and proceeding to Our Lady of Lourdes' Church, where Rev. J. R. Buckley will celebrate Mass at 10:15. Interment will be in the family plot in Royal Oak Burial Park. The arrangements are in the hands of Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co., Ltd.

MONEY BAGS ARE SAFE AFTER RAID

Four Bandits Hold Up Mail Truck But Fail to Obtain Valuable Sacks on Board

CATSKILL, N.Y., Oct. 28 (AP).—Four robbers bound and gagged a mail truck driver and station agent here tonight and escaped with two bags of mail.

The four men were believed to have aimed their raid at two sacks containing money from three Catskill banks, sent nightly to New York City. Postmaster B. G. Dewell said they were unsuccessful, however, and instead obtained two sacks sent from nearby Cairo Postoffice, which contained "nothing of particular value."

BLAME FOR STRIKE ON LONGSHOREMEN

the established practice of the Vancouver waterfront.

Definite and deliberate setting up by the association of its own system of dispatching in May was in defiance of one of the fundamental points covered by the agreement with the federation.

The longshoremen of the Vancouver association "failed to realize or appreciate that the right of collective bargaining, which had gained for them their agreement, involved a corresponding duty of collective adherence to and performance of the bargain they made."

AGAINST BEST INTERESTS

The strike and sympathetic strike by affiliated unions were "contrary to the principles and best interests of sound labor organization" and "the great majority of the Vancouver association were misled in their course of action throughout by unsound and destructive leadership."

"I am not forgetful," said Mr. Justice Davis in conclusion, "of the evidence of Coyle, who has worked on the Vancouver waterfront for the past twenty-five years and appeared to be representative of the best type of longshoremen, that if the employers, the Shipping Federation, had given the men on June 4 a day or two to think the matter over, their course of conduct might have been different. What otherwise might seem harsh and abrupt action by the Shipping Federation was, under all the circumstances, necessary for the assertion of their rights and the preservation of their interest."

REMAIN ON STRIKE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (C.P.). — All units of the Longshore and Water Transport Workers of Canada met yesterday and decided unanimously to remain on strike, regardless of the nature of Hon. H. H. Davis' report, announced today, officials revealed.

Officials of the Shipping Federation of British Columbia had no statement to make concerning the report.

DRAW UP RESOLUTIONS

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (C.P.).—Delegates representing Vancouver and District Waterfront Workers' Association and affiliated bodies adjourned tonight after drawing up a set of resolutions to be put before a mass meeting of strikers tomorrow.

The resolution, which a longshore spokesman refused to reveal, were in connection with the report of Mr. Justice E. H. Davis who recently concluded an inquiry into the waterfront situation and, in his report, laid the blame for the trouble on the strikers.

Garner was accompanied by Joseph W. Byrns, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Edwin L. Neville, charge d'affaires of the American Embassy here, on their visit to the Emperor.

Both of the visiting American officials declined to comment on the audience, saying only they were "deeply impressed."

FIRE DESTROYS HOME AT EAST WELLINGTON

NANAIMO, Oct. 28 — The six-roomed house owned by Joseph Westwood, situated near East Wellington, was completely destroyed by fire at 10:30 on Sunday evening. An Italian family were the tenants. The origin of the flames is not known.

ANCASTER, Ont., Oct. 28 (C.P.). — Harold Anderson woke up and found his barn ablaze. He 'phoned the Dundas fire department because it was two miles nearer to his farm than the Ancaster volunteer brigade. He was referred back to Ancaster. When the latter brigade arrived it could do little else but watch the blaze.

State No Change In Condition of Victim of Yawns

"There has been no appreciable change in her condition," said hospital authorities here late last night concerning Mrs. P. E. Wakelin, who entered the institution on Saturday for treatment for spasmodic yawning, which has been persistent since September 8.

Owing to the peculiar nature of the ailment and the wide interest in the case, the hospital has been deluged with telephone calls, which somewhat disrupts the regular routine of the institution. Hospital etiquette prevents the giving out of information concerning the condition of patients and, the authorities state, the rules will be adhered to in respect to Mrs. Wakelin's day-to-day condition.

It was reported Mrs. Wakelin enjoyed a few hours of sleep on Sunday night, but on awakening the yawning spasms resumed. Oxygen treatment, it is understood, is being given the patient.

CLOTHING WILL BE COLLECTED

Relief Office to Operate New Department November 1—Ask for Return of Furniture

The relief committee of the City Council reported last night that the new clothing department of the relief office would commence operations on November 1 and that the collection of clothes for distribution to needy families would commence almost immediately.

Receipt of clothing from the Friendly Help Welfare Association was acknowledged with thanks, while the council instructed the relief officer to make application to the Friendly Help Welfare Association for return of the furniture loaned the association by the city some time ago.

Donation of a sum of money to the Gyro Club's Christmas hamper fund was referred to the finance committee, with power to act.

CITY COUNCIL DEADLOCKED

Motion and Amendment Defeated With Tie Votes—Question to Be Revived

The City Council came to a deadlock last night in an unusual manner in connection with a resolution sponsored by Alderman Archie Wills that a special committee be appointed to study the B.C.E.R. Company's charter, other modes of transportation, and later to start negotiations with the B.C.E.R. Co., before the present franchise expires.

Alderman Wills explained that the franchise expired in 1938, and that the council should be prepared to discuss intelligently the question of a new franchise. By having a committee, which would study the existing charter, new modes of transportation, and other vital factors in future negotiations, the council would be fully informed on the subject, he contended.

SUGGESTS COMMITTEE

He suggested a committee be appointed comprising two members on the retiring side of the council and two members on the incoming side of the council. In this way the continuity of the committee's work from year to year would be assured.

Some felt that it was too early to consider this, as there might be a new set-up on the council in two months' time. An amendment was put to the motion that it lay on the table until the first of next year. The amendment was lost on a tie vote. When the motion was put, it, too, was lost on a tie vote, Alderman Wills informed the council that he would bring the matter up again. Those who voted for the motion were: Aldermen Archie Wills, Andrew McGavin, Walter Luney, Dr. J. D. Hunter and R. A. C. Dewar. Those who voted against were: Aldermen F. R. Brown, James Adam, T. W. Hawkins, Alex Peden and John A. Worthington.

SHANTYMEN HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Rev. John McTurk, Chilliwack, Speaks to 150 Followers on Results From Prayer

"You can change the government 100 times, but unless prayers are answered, we shall continue on at the same dead level," Rev. John McTurk, Chilliwack, told 150 members of Shantymen's Christian Association during the annual meeting at the Y.W.C.A. last evening.

Mr. McTurk declared that if a man lived right, open and above-board, had a clear conscience, paid his debts and treated his wife right, he was righteous and could get results from his prayers.

"Faith is a gift of God and cannot be made," he asserted. "The church does harm if it does no good to a person," he added.

TELLS OF SHELTER

Percy Wills, Vancouver Island missionary for Shantymen's Christian Association, described the Strangers' Rest shelter recently completed at Port Alberni for the benefit of unemployed miners, loggers and other transients. He handed over the deed of the building to J. S. Whiting, superintendent. Mr. Wills related that a traveling library and a gift of educational books had been promised by the Provincial Government.

E. Wilderspin, literature secretary, reported on distribution of books and magazines to the needy. Mr. Whiting gave a general summary of work upon the Island during the past twelve months. Miss Sylvia Boyden's report on Sunday school classes held at Equimalt and Cordova Bay was received.

The early part of the evening was occupied by a supper, attended by nearly 100 persons. G. Davidson presided.

Final Sittings of Commission to Be Held in Vancouver

Suggestion Is Made to Mr. Justice Macdonald That Solution May Lie in Mixing Oil and Coal as Fuel

FOLLOWING several months' inquiry into fuel conditions in the Province, the British Columbia Fuel Commission is nearing the end of its work. The commission concluded its sitting in Victoria yesterday and will move to Vancouver to finish the taking of evidence on the Mainland.

At the close of the Vancouver sittings members of the board will commence compiling a report to be submitted to the Provincial Government. The report is expected to cover all aspects of the fuel situation in British Columbia and suggestions for remedies will also be included in the manuscript. No definite date has been set for the filing of the report with the Government. The board consists of Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald with C. H. O'Halloran as counsel.

COMPRISE FUEL

At the sitting here yesterday the commission learned of a compromise fuel—obtained by mixing coal and oil by a special scientific process. The suggestion was advanced by Kenneth Moodie, inspector of heating for the Provincial Government, in a specially-prepared paper which covered all phases of the subject.

The proposed combination uses an equal amount of ground coal and oil and, it was suggested, could be used in fuel oil burners. It was reported the method had been investigated by a British industrial and scientific research organization. The main factor, it appeared from the evidence, was the suspension of oil in the state of jell by the use of certain chemicals.

ASKS FOR OPEN MINDS

His Lordship pointed out that he thought the subject under consideration was one of such importance that it should be approached with open minds by all parties. It was necessary to use their best endeavors to convert into practical use coal mined here.

A. B. Robertson, counsel for the collieries, while agreeing with the commissioner, said he felt that it was premature to anticipate full results from what was now in an experimental stage. The Imperial Chemical Products had, he said, kept secret its investigations and the results attained. Some information had leaked out, but most of the information was being guarded jealously.

MIGHT ADD COSTS

Mr. Robertson further pointed out that, for this country, a solution, in the direction indicated, might not be as favorable as with Great Britain. In the latter country the question of obtaining of cheaper oil was paramount. In this country, with oil and coal so nearly balanced in relative values as fuel, it would appear futile to go to the expense of preparing and mixing two fuels of practically the same values thus adding to the cost, he said.

Mr. O'Halloran said he would undertake to secure from the acting agent general in London, all information on the new process at as early a date as possible.

C. D. Orchard, of the Forestry Department, appeared as a witness. His evidence arose out of information given in Vancouver by the British Columbia Loggers' Association, that fire hazards were much greater in the forests in the southern part of the Island than the north. The Courtenay Valley was cited as being specially dangerous, compared with the northern end of the Island.

Mr. Orchard was asked if that information was in the files of his department. He replied the department had what was received in fire reports but, the north end being free from fires, the department did not have reports on that. Only as fires occurred were they able to get information.

It was outlined to Mr. Orchard what information the commission wanted and he was requested to appear before the commission in Vancouver Wednesday morning.

In the meantime, it was announced by Mr. Robertson, Gordon Wismer, counsel for the Loggers' Association, was gathering information relative to the matter.

At the morning sitting J. A. Bennell, superintendent of buildings for the Royal Trust Company, was asked to give information of experience he had in heating business blocks in the city. He said that it was important for the company he represented to see that the best and most economical methods were employed.

Concerning four fuels—heavy oil, light oil, hand-fed coal and stoker-fed coal—he said the latter was the most economical. The main objection to its adoption was because an oil system of feeding had been installed and the price of installing new systems ran into additional expense. If that were overcome the stoker system, with the use of coal, was the most satisfactory.

J. B. Penty, in charge of Empress Hotel heating, said that since 1920 his company used washed pea coal. Before that they used oil. With the tax on oil it was found more economical to use coal. He explained that in the Hotel Vancouver the use of oil, instead of coal, was because of complaints of smoke from the coal.

Percy Fox, who acted as adviser for David Spencer Ltd., said that oil was used in the heating plant which supplied a number of other buildings close to the main store. This was due to the fact that it was difficult to get storage capacity for coal. With high-pressure boilers coal would be cheaper, he said.

In Vancouver the company, Mr. Fox said, used coal, as the store was a modern building with the approved labor-saving devices. Something along this line might sometime be attempted here.

LOTS OF FUEL

Colonel C. W. Villiers, head of the Island collieries, expressed the opinion at least 50,000,000 tons of coal existed on Vancouver Island.

The commission desired to know if it was possible to effect certain economies in distribution of coal which might make it more popular by lowering the price.

The witness stated that it might throw a number out of work.

His Lordship suggested it might be better to put a few out of work in the distribution end if it meant employing a greater number in the mines. The witness said he did not consider much would be saved.

Move Is Helpful to Italy

Closer co-operation between Italy and Austria was foreseen as a result of the coup which consolidated the numerous private armies of the nation under Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, ousting Major Emil Fey, Minister of the Interior and Starhemberg's rival. Schuschnigg retained his post as Chancellor in the Cabinet shake-up, which left Vienna in a state of alarm, under virtual martial rule.

ISSUES WARNINGS FOR HALLOWE'EN

Chief Thomas Heatley States Funmakers Must Refrain From Damaging Property

"Property damage on Hallowe'en will not be tolerated," declared Police Chief Thomas Heatley yesterday in announcing that the downtown area and the residential districts would be well patrolled by regular constables and specials, police cars and motorcycles.

Chief Heatley explained the police department did not wish to dampen the young people's enjoyment on Hallowe'en, but they must carefully respect property.

Exploding of firecrackers will be allowed, providing the frolickers use discretion and not throw the explosives where there is likelihood of a fire ensuing.

SEVERAL PROSECUTED

Last year, the chief pointed out, several persons were prosecuted for willful damage.

He is asking for the assistance of principals of all high schools and parents to impress on the children the necessity of consideration for property.

Chief Heatley further asks that frolickers returning home from parties decline from shouting and making noises that would disturb others in their homes.

INFORMER IS PAID REWARD

Ottawa Solicitor Will Receive Cheque for $80.22 After B.C. Seizures

British Columbia renewed precedent this week by granting a reward of $80.22 to an Ottawa solicitor who pointed out the existence of $752.21 in former company assets seizable by the Crown.

Between 1906 and 1927 four companies were incorporated within the province and subsequently their names were stricken from the register, leaving $752.21 in personal property holdings in British Columbia banks.

FORMER BUSINESSES

These firms included the Steffanson Arctic Exploration & Development Company, Ltd.; the Great West Home Company, Ltd.; the Interlocking Concrete Construction Company, Ltd., and the Royal Loan & Trust Company, Ltd., which later became the Royal Brokerage Company, Ltd.

The Province has now acted under the Escheats Act to possess assets tributable to the Crown, and to reward the man who discovered their existence. A cheque for $80.22, being 15 per cent on the first $100 of the recoveries and 10 per cent on the balance, is going forward to G. G. Beckett, a solicitor of Ottawa, in consequence.

SCHOOL GROUND IS BEAUTIFIED

Work at Girls' and Boys' Central Is Rapidly Nearing Completion

Work has been started at the Girls' Central School, on improving the grounds on the easterly boundary of the football field, which separates the Boys' Central from the Girls' Central.

A rockery, running from Yates to Fort Street, is being built by relief labor, and approach to the football grounds will be made by the installation of two sets of steps, twelve feet wide. When done, the beautification of these grounds will almost be completed.

All that remains to be done is to plant flowering shrubs along the Boys' Central School fence, thus extending the flower border now running along the Yates Street side of the Girls' Central School to Ormond Street.

The plants are being obtained from the school nursery, and the work is being carried out under the supervision of the building and grounds committee.

NEW INSULATION HAS HIGH VALUE

Shawnigan Lumber Yards Introducing a British Columbia Product Which Is Economical

The Shawnigan Lumber Yards are introducing what is claimed to be a well nigh perfect insulation material to be used in house construction. This is Flufftex, manufactured by Alouette Peat Products, Ltd., Pitt Meadows, B.C. It is claimed for the product that in addition to its exceedingly light weight, it is a heat retainer in the Winter and tends to maintain the rooms cool in the Summer.

The material is a non-conductor of electricity and is recommended for packing about electric wires in the house. An advantage is that Flufftex is non-combustible, and while it lacks odor, it is repellant to vermin and a preventive of bacterial life.

The Shawnigan Lumber Yards believe that in this newly manufactured product, there has been found a wonderfully economical insulating material in house building.

NAVAL SECURITY

The decision of the British Government to make the issue of the general election of November 14 a policy of rearmament is dictated by international tension. It is dictated, moreover, by a constantly-growing appreciation in the British Isles that the forces designed for national and Imperial defence have been allowed to fall below the margin of safety. This is especially the case with naval armament. In the decision of the Government, however, there is no intention of pursuing any policy which will alienate good relations with the other Great Powers. On the contrary, a new naval conference is planned in December to discuss a possible pact to replace the Washington and London naval treaties, which expire in 1936.

As well as home protection, Great Britain has to consider the protection of her trade all over the world. For this purpose three focal points are considered necessary. One is the Atlantic Fleet based on Gibraltar; the second is the Mediterranean Fleet to cover not only that inland sea, but the Red Sea and the Indian Ocean; the third is the Eastern Fleet based on Singapore. Two of these fleets now exist, and that the third is to be established is evidenced by the building of the Singapore base. The important trade routes to be protected cover 85,000 miles. Great Britain is dependent on these trade routes, for she imports on an average 50,000 tons of foodstuffs every day. Her overseas trade is world-wide, therefore she has to give it protection everywhere.

Estimates made by naval experts show the necessity for increases in capital ships, cruisers and destroyers to meet Great Britain's margin of safety. Under existing treaty limitations the British Fleet is allowed fifteen capital ships; twenty-one are considered to be essential. She is now allowed forty-nine cruisers, and the need is for seventy-one. In place of the 144 destroyers decreed, the number should be 191. Instead of a One-Power standard, Great Britain wants a 1.35-Power standard, as her commitments throughout the world are considerably greater than those of any other nation. At present the annual upkeep and replacement charge of a Navy represents an insurance premium of 2.5 per cent on the value of Great Britain's maritime trade. The new proposal is that the premium value should be 3 per cent, which would give the required degree of security.

Great Britain, as throughout the past, is prepared in the future to defend not only her own trade but that of all other parts of the Empire. In her latest plans she is asking for no assistance from the Overseas Dominions. What they may do, or continue to do, is left to their own sense of pride and their appreciation of their responsibilities. The proposed naval increases do not take into consideration anything that the rest of the Empire will do for insuring its own security. The issue of naval defence and the strength of the Navy that the British Empire needs continue to be regarded as the concern of Great Britain. Her people are being asked in the forthcoming election to give their sanction to a restoration of armed forces deemed necessary for Empire safety, and the election in this respect provides something in the nature of an object lesson to the people of this Dominion and other parts of the British domain.

EMBARRASSING OTTAWA

Mr. Mackenzie King has gone into power on the strength of, among other considerations, a promise to the people that his first imperative duty will be to "do something" constructive in the matter of balancing the national budget and arresting the accumulation of debt. One item, and it is only an item in this direction, would be to inform the Provinces that hereafter they must finance themselves. Another would be to devise a railway policy whereby the national ownership of railways will cease to be such a financial incubus on the people. The Prime Minister's immediate concern should be to come to an arrangement with the Western Provinces whereby an end can be put to sapping the resources of the Federal Government.

Mr. King's problem is a difficult one. When Premier Aberhart secured office in Alberta, one of his first acts was to go to Ottawa and seek to secure a loan of $18,000,000. He was advanced a sum of a little over $2,000,000 to tide Alberta over until the end of the present month. He wants $16,000,000 more, and that is one of the first requests that the new King Government will receive from the Western Provinces. No doubt Mr. King will be very sympathetic. It is possible that he will accede to the Albertan request, but in doing so the seeds of further trouble are being sown. Alberta, like Oliver Twist, will go to Ottawa for more, and so will the other Provinces. British Columbia is looking forward to tapping the Federal treasury for substantial amounts.

During the late Alberta election campaign it was intimated by the proponents of the Aberhartian gospel that all the Province's troubles would be over if once Social Credit were approved. The people voted accordingly. Apparently the way the troubles were to be removed was by using the credit of the Dominion Government to meet Albertan debts. Mr. Aberhart has discovered that he has no power to legislate abont money and banking. He wants cash, and he has to go to Ottawa to get it. There is no indication whatever, in any sense, that the Social Credit he believes in will be put into effect. Mr. Aberhart himself is quite at a loss as to what to do about it; he has sent to London for Major Douglas, and the irony of the situation is that the Douglasites were at great pains to explain during the Alberta election campaign that the simon pure form of Social Credit and that advocated by Mr. Aberhart were leagues apart; that in fact they were two entirely different economic gospels.

It may be presumed that in the last analysis Mr. Mackenzie King and his Government will be blamed because Social Credit cannot be put into effect in Alberta. For political reasons it will be thought necessary for Mr. Aberhart to find a scapegoat. As matters stand he cannot attack the Dominion Government at present because he wants to secure a large loan from that source. He will go on wanting to increase that loan unless a rigid system of economy is put into effect in Albertan finances and balanced budgets are thereby effected. It will be the same with the other Western Provinces. Unless there is a new policy devised they will continue to be an embarrassment to the Federal Government whether or not they are in political sympathy with the National Administration.

MAKING THINGS EASIER

The whole progress of civilization is directed towards making life easier; it is being made easier in a physical sense; it may be doubted if the same blessing is flowing in the direction of mental composure. An illustration of the march of civilization was afforded recently at a Chemists' Exhibition in London, where there was a display of "medicine without tears." It showed how castor oil may be taken in a pleasant way as it is offered to the customer as barley sugar. Now, too, cod-liver oil, halibut-liver oil, and stomach powder each can be obtained as a chemist's confection indistinguishable from ordinary sweets. There is a bath salt now in which efficiency and comfort are blended, and which also is heralded as a remedy for insomnia because it produces a feeling of drowsiness and lassitude.

There are now socks and lockets charged with iodine, and butterscotch containing the same ingredient. There is a form of sock in which the chemist and the electrician have combined in the fight against cold feet. A metal device has been perfected which is inserted in the sock and generates heat throughout the body. In their progress chemists also are giving a great deal of attention to the study of glands and their functions. In 1741 a cough mixture contained sixty-two ingredients. What was the apothecary's task in that time is now done by the large manufacturer. The chemist simply handles the finished product and has nothing to do with the processes of extracting essences from herbs and plants. There is a great deal new in the realm of drugs, more particularly in the methods adopted for hiding them in sweet-tasting substances so that they may be taken without nauseating effects.

Premier Mussolini of Italy is giving an illustration of the historical course of dictatorships. There is no doubt that he has provided his country with admirable administration in an internal sense. He has not conquered all domestic difficulties. Some show a disposition to conquer him, and so, as in the past, dictatorship is diverting the attention of the people by an external adventure. It is such adventures that are the prelude to the end of dictatorship.

The simplest of all remedies for a cold is advocated by a writer in The London Daily Telegraph. When it is coming on all the prospective victim has to do is to stoop and unlace his shoes or boots and then lace them up again. The writer claims to have tried this experiment and always avoided a cold, and he says that the only persons not cured in this way are those who think the method too silly to be tried.

CRANKS AND CREDITS

When a simple man is bent double with pain 100 different remedies will be offered him, if he cares to listen to all the old wives. Those who promise most may expect the best hearing. The analogy is true of the world and its woes. Major Douglas first expounded his theory of Social Credit shortly after the Great War ended. Like all proposals of the kind, his theories have fluctuated in popularity according to the times. Whenever Major Douglas' stocks rise one may be sure that the economic barometer is falling steadily. It must have fallen low in the agricultural Province of Alberta (Canada), where the Douglas Social Credit party has been wafted into office on the bubble of dividends for all. Major Douglas has waited since 1918 to see the world converted to his economic fallacy; he may now be experiencing the modified rapture of watching Alberta capitulate.—The Australasian.

Egotism is more like an offence than a crime; though it is allowable to speak of yourself, provided nothing is advanced in favor; but I cannot help suspecting that those who abuse themselves are, in reality, angling for approbation.—Zimmerman.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Mark now how a plain tale shall put you down. —Shakespeare.

There actually was "something" in the paper this morning—and it was authentic news. When a man finds a fawn hidden in the ferns beside a log, and is so affected by the soft beauty of the eyes of the gentle little thing that he abducts it, adopts it and nurtures it out of a bottle, that is not news. Even a reporter with a "nose for news" might scorn to print it in his paper. The thing has happened in British Columbia and many other parts of this continent. It is as easy to meet a pet of a fawn as it is to make a pet of a fawn as it is to have seen a young deer following a young girl around the country as confidingly as "Mary's little lamb" followed its mistress about.

But when an adult deer (and a male deer at that) in the course of its rambles discovers a little child and is so entranced at the attractions of the little innocent that it kisses the infant after the fashion of its kind upon the face and hands, picks it up on its antlers and leaps away towards the wilds, that is news, and we expect it will be printed in many of the papers of the world as more interesting news than the dispatches from the war front. Although the abduction was inadvertent, and the ravisher of a human habitation was probably more alarmed at what he had done than the victim of his momentary admiration, that does not detract from the news value and interest of the story. If the animal had been of a predatory disposition, the end of the story might have been tragic instead of merely dramatic.

Caddy of Cadboro Bay having apparently gone on a long journey and the baya and the estuaries which knew her may know her no more, the tale of the adventure of the deer with a human baby will give the makera of newspapera something to print and readers of the newspapers something worth while to read. There are other people in the world besides Peter Pan who never grow up. We confess to a certain interest still in fairy tales and all stories of imagination and humor. And we believe there are many people in the world like us. There are even politicians who believe in fairies, in Cinderellas and glass slippers, in fairy godmothers and princes "rich beyond the dreams of imagination."

Those childlike politicians seem for the present to be more abundant in the neighboring province of Alberta than anywhere else in the world, but the delusion is spreading, and unless the House of Credit should collapse, as houses of magic always have done in the light of a day of reason, this country may be governed by a magician called Aberhart, and we shall all live happily forever after.

The reader will notice that we have an unfortunate habit of mixing up things which really matter with politics. More people read about Caddy and her mysterious appearances and disappearances than are likely to read about the magic of Professor Aberhart, his prophecies and his promises. If we mixed up our curious stories of the creations of the animal world with the preposterous stories told by leaders in the political world, it might be hard to "make head or tail" of them; but Caddy has gone, no one knows where, and we venture to predict that that other curio, the alleged inspired leader of Social Credit, will disappear in course of time, no one will know where, and no one will care where.

The almost incredible story of the adventure of the baby with a deer reminds us of the fact that there are but two places in Canada which are the sources of wonderful tales of the wilds and the pranks of wild creatures gifted with a sense of humor. One of those sources is Vancouver Island and the other is Sault St. Marie, Ont. The Sault is commonly called the Soo for short. And thereby hangs another tale. Snooky O'Brien and Shinny Shay were chums, and we numbered both among our friends. They were both printers, Snooky bright and smart, and Shinny neither. One night in pursuit of his trade as a compositor Shinny happened to be "setting up" the shipping news, turned to his friend and inquired, "Say, Snookey, how do you spell Sait Stee Maria?"

We expect the celebrated wolves of the Soo, which owe their celebrity to the observation or the imagination of the editors and reporters of the local papers, would have howled with glee if they had been listening to Shinny's demand for information. The Greatest Show on Earth, even in the days of its splendor, never had such a collection of wonderful animals as have been performing every Winter in the country surrounding the Soo for the entertainment and enlightenment of residents and travelers. When the story of the abduction of a British Columbia human baby by an antlered deer reaches the East and the eyes of the Soo newspapermen, we are not going to speculate about what will happen. We know our strange tale will be capped by news of another incredible escapade of the celebrated Soo wolf.

Hands Up!

Large ears inspire confidences on the rear platform of a street car. One patron told me yesterday he was studying palmistry. He had made progress, too, being able to identify the broad, square hand of capability; the oval-shaped nails of artistry; and knobbly knuckles that denote tolerance. The left hand, he confided, shows what life can give one; and the right what one is apt to collect in the harvest. White half-moons at the base of the nails, he said, were a sign of health, and discolored moons, ill-health. No cure, he insisted, had yet been found for a sticky palm, particularly in politics.—S.G.

Spinach and Stories

An overabundance of funny stories and plenty of spinach provide the key to longevity, states a Mohawk Indian who still enjoys sound health at the age of 105 years. The prescription is interesting, but fate and circumstances will be the principal factors in life's span. If there realy is anything in this aged chap's contention, many of us should benefit from the funny stories told during the last election campaign.—J.D.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of October 29, 1885)

Naval Notes—It has been decided that the flagship Triumph will remain at Esquimalt until next April. The first intention was to proceed to Coquimbo, where the new cylinder for her engine was to have been forwarded by a storeship, but after the firing in the Straits, it was discovered that a second crack had been made in the cylinder liaing, probably from concussion. As it was considered unsafe to go to sea with the cylinder in this condition, the vessel will remain at Esquimalt and the cylinder will be forwarded from Coquimbo. While regretting the accident, our citizens generally will be pleased to have Admiral Sir M. Culme-Seymour and staff with them for the lenethened period.

The Electric Light—Total darkness reigned after 11 o'clock last night. Perhaps the moon was out, but it was not visible. There is no reason why the light should be turned off on uncertainties. It renders the streets dangerous and assists thieves. A better system of lighting should prevail.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 300 words in length.

ESQUIMALT FINANCES

Sir,—I am astonished at the glowing press reports of the financial standing of Esquimalt Municipality, showing a surplus of over $21,000, and naturally I am also very pleased to learn of it.

Unfortunately for our peace of mind some people seem to doubt, and dub the statement a "wonderful piece of propaganda."

Far be it from me to doubt the veracity of these financial and statistical experts who make these claims. I am delighted. It will have solved our problems. Once I have found the man who is actually holding the money-sock it will surely be in order for even an "obstructionist" and a "source of embarrassment" to move that we allocate immediately the sum of $10,000 for badly needed roads and sidewalks, still leaving a substantial balance for emergencies.

Just think of the pleasure of our home-owners. Think of our unemployment problem at least temporarily solved. As I have said, all that is needed is to find the man who knows where the surplus is.

FRED EATON, Councillor.
876 Wollaston Street, Esquimalt, B.C., Oct. 25, 1935.

MARKETING CONTROL!

Sir,—Well; The election is over, and the result has, to say the least, been surprising, even to the victorious party. Now we may expect to see the dissolving of this pernicious market control scheme. In that event the only ones who will be sorry, and the only ones who will lose, will be the many high-salaried officials making up the board or boards. Such nice paid jobs are not easy to get.

According to all accounts and complaints of the producers of tomatoes, lettuce, etc., the board has not only not given satisfaction but in many cases has caused the growers a loss. In the case of potatoes alone, if the best the board can do is to fix a price of $15 a ton in a season of admitted great shortage, when they used to be $30 a ton in seasons of no shortage, the board has nothing to boast about. They have done nothing worthy of consideration or praise.

But, assuming that they could get the potato-grower $2.50 a ton more than with no board (and it would not be worthwhile unless they could get at least that), this $2.50, plus $2.10 to the board (or is it $2.60?) would make a price of $4.60 a ton more to the consumer. The consumers, many of whom have to look at even their dimes and nickels twice over before spending them, will have their own views of this matter.

Every way you look at it, as Mr. Solly says, the board is just an extra middleman, waxing fat either on the producer or consumer, or both.

Just two things can happen to a crop of potatoes, etc., produced in a province or country, as: 1, If there is a shortage, the price will automatically rise as the shortage becomes more acute; 2, If the production is so great as to make it impossible for the public to consume the crop, then the price will fall in proportion.

Hence, we see years here when the grower cannot sell his potatoes at a decent price, so feeds them to his stock or dumps them on the garbage heap in the Spring. Other years he gets from $25 to $35 a ton or more. One hotel in Duncan some few years ago paid $8 for a sack of old crop potatoes in late Spring, $160 a ton!

The board cannot create markets or cause the public to consume more of a product than the public wants or is able to consume. If a produce is greatly beyond what the public can consume and the board releases just what this public wants at a given time, the growers, or some of them, will, before the season for that produce is ended, find themselves with much of this produce on their hands unsaleable. So the price the board gets for sales will have to be cut to fit this loss.

If, as has been suggested, all this fuss with market control has been brought about solely because of the activities of the Orientals in producing and marketing produce, then it is just too bad. Some other method should be used to curb the activities of these gentlemen. One such method has been brought about in this district by denying the renting of land to Orientals for growing potatoes. They rent only the best land, anyway, and leave it impoverished, as usually happens with all rented land, whether to whites or Orientals. JOHN SPEARS.

WHY BLAME GOD?

Sir,—When God created this world, including man, His laws were already established and governed by His Kingdom. These laws still prevail and govern this world. The law of God provides abundant blessings to those who obey, and punishments to those who disobey. Whether man is willing to believe in God or not His law affects him just the same. Being created in the image of God we are correlated with His Kingdom and governed accordingly through His laws and principles. These laws are revealed to us throughout nature, including our own lives and actions. If, for instance, a nation wants to assure a social life and welfare for its citizens it must lay out a constitution protected by laws which shall protect the just from the unjust. Suppose someone steals, or takes another's life, he is brought to court, tried and convicted by the judge and fined or jailed according to the law. Who would be to blame, the judge, the court, the law or the criminal?

Not only in Canada, but throughout the world we have at present millions of people who want to disregard their national system, or laws and constitutions; the same group also lacks respect for the law of God; in fact, denies and blasphemes the Kingdom of God, only causing suffering to themselves and others. Such people would abolish "system and order" which is the first principle in God's law. Is God to blame for the hot-headed earthly dictators who have not sufficient intelligence for sane reasoning? Was there any need to sacrifice life in the war of 1914-1918? or any previous one, or for any possible future one? To think that God inspires war is ridiculous. I was asked some time ago: "If God is almighty why does he allow sickness and poverty?" My reply was: "Is God to blame if you abuse your body in any way?" To some it seems God is to blame for a man's drunkenness, or for the loss of his weekly pay at a poker game instead of feeding his hungry family, or if he refuses to do an honest day's work and prefers starvation. Why blame God, or any other authority, for such a self-inflicted condition as poverty? When God created man He gave him every faculty for self-mastery, also the power to subdue evil. Is man using this privilege which God so beneficiently gave him? No, instead of subduing evil, too many encourage it; they prefer a life of wickedness and blasphemy; their habit is always to blame someone else; they do not believe in God, yet blame Him for everything; they blaspheme every master and Christianity—blaming them for the world conditions, but never help to improve or reconstruct. They look for artificial solutions and cannot realize that the only true salvation is the law of God with His Kingdom. Not God, but man dominates this earth and all that is in it. If man would search within instead of without, he soon would overcome his poverty, sickness and unemployment. Instead of being a slave to himself he would become a master. Too many people are lacking in self-mastery; they wander aimlessly and helplessly about, seeking someone to lift them up, while He Who is Almighty dwells within, but is ignored and blasphemed.

Why blame God who is just, upholding His law of righteousness, which gives abundant blessings to all who observe it. Religion harms no one if kept within God's covenant. Help to apply the practical science of religion; then we soon shall see love and peace with the Kingdom of God on this earth established. Read and study Psalm 1; it will help many to find a key.

YOUTH AND SPORT

Sir,—May I have the pleasure of expressing in your well read daily newspaper, the feelings of what I think is the feeling of every youth of this city, and suggest that those who happen to read this, stop to think. I am sure that you will all agree with me that the youth of our fair city are not getting a fair deal in this age of sports. Where is the auditorium that we read so much about? Is it another fairy story? What about the arena; yes, what about it? We have been waiting for this building a long time now. Winter is coming on now and just stop to think what we have to offer the Winter tourists. We have nothing to offer and you know it. That is why I say the youth are not getting the Winter sports that they should. DAVE DICKINSON.

AUTUMN

No sheen the richest foliage now displays;
Alas! the leaves have fallen from the vines;
The humming-birds have gone to warmer climes;
My garden fair now but a shambles stays!

Flower-chains of gold have now their beauty lost
Which the laburnum in its glory bore;
The mountain-ash beside my cottage door
Weeps drops of blood into the dewy grass!

The sheltering laurels' falling leaves invite;
The swinging rose-tree bears no graceful bloom;
My fairest flowers are tumbling to their doom;
My clustered shastas now a doleful white!

The sap runs to the root, and stems are dead;
Bright marigolden tints are softening down;
My proudest gladiolas hug the ground;
Geraniums are tumbling into bed!

My flower-box, once bedecked with sunset pink
And proudly bandied to the public sight,
Is sombre as a lonely Winter's night,
And pitiful beyond all I can think!

The chestnuts fall like hail-stones to the street,
And happy children chase them to and fro;
Their little parties daily come and go,
And gather them as jewels at their feet.

My thoughts are of the daffodils of Spring,
And of the primrose once beside the wall,
And of the mating robins' Spring-time call,
And swallows fleet for ever on the wing.

These all have gone till Spring shall come again,
And the rude Winter's frown has worn away,
And Nature's kind, maternal hand shall stay
The labor wrought by frost and wind and rain.

But ivy tendrils cling to porch and tree,
While western skies are lit with glory red—
With colors rare as from my garden bed—
So their fair beauty shall my flowers be!

—C. C. Perry.

The new milkman was bashful, but anxious to please his customers. An elderly woman appeared at the door of a big house which he served, and haughtily put the question: "How much is my milk bill?" The young man blushed and stammered: "Beggin' your pardon, ma'am, but my name's Jim."

Changing Ideals Of Social Justice Under Discussion

Prof. H. F. Angus Considers Practicability of Economic Utopia in Second Address on Subject Given for University Extension Group

PREPARING the way for the discussion in January next of three projected schemes for securing social justice, viz., reformed capitalism, monetary changes and Socialism, Prof. H. F. Angus, head of the Department of Economics, at the University of British Columbia, last evening, addressed a University Extension audience at the Girls' Central School on the question: "Is Social Justice Practicable?"

The subject was reviewed impartially from the standpoint of the need for social justice, standards of social justice, working compromises, and social justice as it might be conceived between nations.

Men and women did their best work only if convinced that the system under which they were working was a fair one. The system commonly called capitalism did for a long time appear as substantially fair, "not one that aimed at justice in the abstract, but one which had the same degree of fairness as a common lottery."

JUSTICE OR CHARITY?

The Christian religion made a great deal of the duty of charity. If hail destroyed one farmer's crop, would it be act of justice or an act of charity if his neighbor offered him half of his intact crop? Usually, Professor Angus hazarded, one thought of this as an act of charity, and the tendency had been in the past to apply this principle in economic relations. Fifty years ago it was generally considered that people got their deserts in the world unless they were specially unlucky. People on the whole were content to give their best efforts in this game of chance.

This was still true for some—but not for others. Among the latter were those who felt that the chance of disaster should not fall on the heads of the few, but that there should be social justice for all. If one took this socialized view, then the ancient view of charity disappeared altogether from the economic field.

FORCE AND RIGHT

Rousseau's view that the strongest was never strong enough to be always master, unless he succeeded in making force into right, was quoted. Social justice became necessary to insure stability and to stimulate effort. Lord Hugh Cecil had argued that the only obligation of man to man was charity; that for the state to take property from one man and give it to a poorer man was just as wrong as for Robin Hood to do it.

The audience was asked to consider, in connection with "just income," whether they could make a statement of what income they thought they should have. Under the present system wages consisted of the payment that the one receiving services was willing to make those services. In the case of an artist, for instance, the amount he received for a picture depended on its appeal, and therefore the artist's income was dependent on the other incomes in the community.

TOLERABLE HONESTY

In discussing standards of social justice there were considered protection of vested interests, distribution according to service rendered, economic equality, distribution accordingto needs, and changing ideals. The general view was that man lived in a world which enjoyed the degree of justice that was connoted by "tolerable honesty."

One could tolerate chance so long as it was fair chance; a great many people seemed, in fact, to prefer to live in a community where there was an element of chance. One of the difficulties, in getting any sort of standards of social justice, was the arriving at what were considered standards. And the most respected at the present time was the preservation of vested interests. Professor Angus maintained that honesty as a standard of justice had some of the elements possessed by a good bookie; one paid what one agreed to pay, but sometimes the agreements were broken, giving way to some immediate necessity. There was a great variance of opinion as to how far one was justified in giving way. The differences of opinion would be found to coincide along the lines of personal advantage.

SERVICES RENDERED

Under the second standard—distribution according to service rendered, the idea was that if a man gave more service he should be paid more. Most people accepted this idea in a general way, but there was the difficulty here of appraising the value of a service to the community.

Recognizing this, some advocated equality of income regardless of the service to the community, using as a basis the argument that man's basic needs were approximately equal, for food, clothing and shelter. There was the argument, too, that if distribution were made according to the need of the individual, the invalid would get a bigger income than the healthy person. To a certain extent this system was in operation now, particularly in the family sense. Professor Angus suggested the difficulties that might be encountered in balancing the different human wants against each other, in trying to discover what incomes people should have. In one case it would be the proper diet for a child versus an operation for cancer for an old man. This thing had to be worked out in the family. How was it to be worked out in the community?

COMPROMISES

"We are driven to working compromises of one kind and another," said the speaker; who indicated among the dangers to be avoided, Utopianism and the trying to change the world too suddenly. Too rapid change would inevitably create discontent and enlist the neutrals on the side of the opposition. The rate of change should keep pace with the degree of assent that could be secured, and the ability to carry the mass of opinion behind the movement. One need only to view this from the international standpoint to realize its importance. General co-operation would be required. The rights of backward peoples who had not made the material or cultural progress of other nations had to be considered, people who were backward judged by any standard. One had to consider whether they had any rights; were they to be evicted from their lands to make place for people not so backward? It was extremely difficult to set an equitable standard, and the setting of a standard was likely to create resentment.

NEW PLAN DRAFTED TO MEET IL DUCE

the attention of the Governments to which they are envoys to the desirability of studying thoroughly all Italian proposals before rejecting them.

A SECRET TRIP

Maurice Drummond Peterson, head of the Ethiopian section of the Foreign Office, made a secret trip to Paris last week, an informed source said, and conferred at length with a French colleague.

Their conversation presumably was for the purpose of studying Italian proposals and is said to have resulted in drafting of a common statement of the views of the two experts on Ethiopian affairs, which was given to their Governments for consideration.

STIFFENING ATTITUDE

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP). — Great Britain saw increasing signs tonight of a steadily stiffening attitude toward Italy.

They came in the wake of apparent collapse of peace negotiations because of Benito Mussolini's unacceptable demands on Ethiopia.

They were emphasized today by the announcement that Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, is going to Geneva late this week.

Official sources, stressing there is no change in British policy, said the reason for his trip lay in the importance of decisions the League must take.

This served to strengthen the belief that both Sir Samuel and Anthony Eden, Minister for League Affairs, will throw the full weight of His Majesty's Government behind a drive for the earliest date possible for application of economic sanctions.

At sea, Great Britain yielded not an inch to Italian suggestions for reduction of the Mediterranean fleet. In fact, three old-type destroyers were reported out from Portland and bound for the Mediterranean and possibly the Red Sea. They were the Torrid, the Thruster and the Rowena.

A POSSIBLE LEAK

GENEVA, Oct. 28 (AP). — Austria was regarded in League of Nations circles tonight as the only possible serious leak in an economic barrier being thrown around Italy.

This gigantic net was reinforced today by the adherence of Russia to an economic boycott.

Japan and Germany have indicated they will do nothing to embarrass the League's boycott. Switzerland will apply the arms embargo and restrict her purchases of Italian goods to an amount equaling the value of her exports to Italy.

Despite Austria's opposition to sanctions, an Austrian spokesman told this correspondent that his country was not likely to sell much to Italy because of Italy's probable inability to pay.

FORTY BACK EMBARGO

China, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Luxemburg and Switzerland announced tonight an arms embargo against Italy and the complementary lifting of the embargo from Ethiopia. This makes forty countries backing the embargo.

Twenty-three countries have subscribed to financial sanctions. However, only thirteen have adhered to the economic boycott.

The recent acceptors of the economic sanction were Belgium, Estonia, Luxemburg, Uruguay, Norway and Russia.

In a telegram, Moscow announced that the Soviet would impose an embargo on the exportation of key products which can be used for making munitions and also on all importations into Russia from Italy.

The League, however, expects additional adhesions to the economic boycott between now and October 31, when a committee of fifty-two nations meet to fix a date for enforcement of the economic interdiction.

SOLIDIFY NEW LINE

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press)

ENTISCIO, Ethiopia, Oct. 28.—Italy's advancing regiments solidified a new and stronger line, well beyond the Aduwa-Adigrat front, today, and the high command believed it had blasted any Ethiopian intention of driving a wedge between the Fascist columns.

General Emilio de Bono, high commander of colonial troops, moved promptly up to the front, took formal possession of the newly occupied territory and issued orders for consolidation of the new positions.

CONSTRUCTING ROAD

Over the rugged terrain behind the front line, the engineers' corps busied itself constructing a road from Entiscio to the foremost part of the central column.

Before Saturday's advance, conducted in the rarified air of 7,500 and 10,000-foot altitudes and through hostile and rugged mountains, the Italian position between Aduwa and Adigrat was believed vulverable to a major enemy attack.

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 28 (CP-Havas.—A squadron of four Italian planes bombed Gorrahei, centre of the Ethiopian defence bulwark in the southeast, reports from the Ogaden front said tonight.

The Government stated it received word from headquarters at Gorrahei that an Italian advance was under way in the Wabbe Shebeli Valley and an attack on Gorrahei was expected momentarily.

No casualties were listed in the air raid reports.

Haile Selassie held a meeting of his Crown Council today to map out a strategy to stem the Italian advance, according to reliable sources.

ASKS DOCKING SPACE

(Copyright, 1935, by Havas News Agency)

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 28 (CP-Havas).—The Italian Government has requested Egyptian authorities to grant docking space at Alexandria for transports bound for Eritrea, but the request probably will be refused, it was learned in reliable quarters tonight.

British military advisers kept close watch on the situation in Egypt. Observers said that, even though one division of Italian troops may be withdrawn from the Libyan-Egyptian border, the Italian forces remaining will still be superior to the Anglo-Egyptian troops concentrated on this side of the frontier.

Refusal will be explained on the grounds that Egypt intends to preserve complete neutrality in the conflict.

A copy of the secret military code of the Egyptian army has been lost or stolen under mysterious circumstances, it was learned following a session of the military tribunal. An officer and a non-commissioned officer are suspected in the case. The tribunal's verdict will be known shortly.

Will Consider Traffic Signal Recommendation

A recommendation from Chief of Police Thomas Heatley that a traffic signal be placed at the intersection of Yates and Blanshard Streets was referred to the electric light committee for report by the City Council last night.

However, Alderman Andrew McGavin expressed the view that the chief was asking for too many signals. Alderman Alex Peden contended the chief had a right to his views and that his recommendation should at least be considered.

HELP THOSE OF AVERAGE MEANS

Dr. D. J. Thomas Says Australian Hospitals Care for People of Intermediate Class

Australia has recognized the heavy burdens carried by the middle class and is doing much to ease them, especially in regard to hospital treatment, according to Dr. Douglas J. Thomas, of the X-ray department of the Royal Melbourne Hospital, Melbourne, Australia, who is registered at the Dominion Hotel with his family.

The large financially intermediate class received more hospital attention in his country, Dr. Thomas believes, than in any other country.

"The real problem is not in catering for the very poor—they are well looked after already—or for the very rich—they can take care of themselves—but in looking after the people of average means who are not entitled to free hospital treatment," the visitor declared.

CHURCH HOSPITALS

Church hospitals in Australia took care of this problem, Dr. Thomas explained. Every denomination operated a hospital in Melbourne and other cities.

Dr. Thomas, accompanied by his wife, and their son and daughter, Ian and Marjorie, left Melbourne last Spring to attend the Silver Jubilee celebrations in London. Dr. Thomas was requested to make a survey of English and Continental hospitals and their equipment on behalf of the Melbourne Hospital, which is to be completely rebuilt shortly.

The visitors plan to remain here a few days, then go South and sail home from Los Angeles via Honolulu.

DELEGATION TO GO EAST

Half of B.C. Cabinet Will Be Present at Ottawa Conference Shortly

Four members of the Provincial Government will definitely go East in the next two weeks in connection with the Ottawa conference and other matters. Premier Pattullo, who recently enunciated the nine points that would be spoken to by the British Columbia Cabinet delegation, will head the party.

Hon. John Hart said he would attend the conference, to speak to financial issues involved, and to advise in connection with many items on the programme concerned with finance or taxation.

Attorney-General Sloan will be in the party, to deal with constitutional issues in connection with the B.N.A. Act, and also to plead again the British Columbia case in respect to better terms under the original pact of confederation.

SOCIAL SERVICE PROBLEMS

Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir said he was being called East in any event by reason of social service problems, and expected to leave about the same time.

Hon. G. S. Pearson said his participation or otherwise at the conference had not yet been decided, but due to pressure of departmental affairs, he was anxious if possible to remain here.

A quorum of the Cabinet will remain behind in any event. This is expected to include Messrs. Gray, MacDonald and MacPherson, Ministers in charge respectively of Lands, Agriculture and Public Works departments.

The official delegation may be attended by some departmental officials, though this has not yet been officially decided.

WILL DISCUSS PROJECT LIST

Special Public Works Committee Meeting Will Be Held To Make Decision

A complete discussion on how the $100,000 to be loaned the city by the Provincial Government, shall be spent will take place at a public works committee meeting to be held some time this week. This was decided upon at last night's meeting of the City Council after the special committee, appointed to draft a schedule of projects, filed its recommendations.

Alderman Archie Wills pointed out that it would be useless for the council to discuss projects without having the costs supplied, too. He also wished to know if other projects could be brought forward, and pointed out that there was no mention of a civic auditorium in the list.

Alderman John Worthington said that no time should be lost, as Winter was advancing and some of the work should be got under way before the real rainy season started. He would like to see the Oaklands School Auditorium proceeded with immediately.

SEPARATE PROJECT

Alderman T. W. Hawkins urged that the council n t delay too long, and Alderman R. A. C. Dewar was in accord with him. However, a discussion was started in connection with the Bowker Creek project, and Alderman Wills wanted to know why that project should have been included. It was his understanding, he said, that Hon. John Hart was willing to discuss with representatives from the city, Oak Bay and Saanich the question of financing this drainage project as a separate project from the $100,000.

Mayor David Leeming will be asked to call the meeting as soon as possible so that some of the work can be decided upon and a start made immediately.

Duck Breaks Neck, Leg and Wing, as Well as Skylight

"Do you want to buy a duck?"

Joe Penner, the radio comedian, was not asking that question in Victoria yesterday, but Roy Wille, of the New England Cafe, was.

Discovery of the duck—a big bluebill—resulted when Harry Norris, of F. Norris & Sons, harness manufacturers, 1320 Government Street, went into the cafe to complain to Mr. Wille that the wind had apparently blown a piece of concrete from the chimney of the New England Block down through the harness shop skylight.

Both men went to the roof to investigate. They found the duck, with its neck, wing and leg broken, lying near the chimney against which it had apparently flown. The force of the impact had knocked two pieces of cement from the chimney, one of which broke the skylight.

Mr. Norris forgot the broken skylight while he anticipated a choice duck dinner.

City Council to Notify Company of Sums Due—Action Can Be Taken in Month

The Panama Pacific Grain Terminals, Limited, will be notified by the city that it is in default of sums amounting in all to $79,384.

At last night's meeting of the council an official notice was presented for approval before sending it to the company. If the defaulted sums have not been paid within a month after notice has been given, then the city has the right to take one of three alternative steps.

These actions included application to the Supreme Court of British Columbia for appointment of a receiver; bringing action for foreclosure, and the exercising of the power to sell.

States Honolulu Enjoyed Bumper Tourist Season

Honolulu had a bumper tourist season this Summer and indications are that the Winter months will draw even a greater crowd of visitors, stated P. B. de Mandel, tourist business promoter of Honolulu, on his arrival at the Empress Hotel, yesterday, with Mrs. de Mandel.

The increase in tourist business was attributed by Mr. de Mandel to widespread advertising by the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. de Mandel explained they had come to Vancouver Island to fish and hunt, and would go immediately to Campbell River.

APPOINTMENT IS STILL IN DOUBT

H. S. Pringle, City Solicitor, to Report On Whether Procedure Was Irregular

Appointment of a new secretary to Fire Chief Alexander Munroe still remains unsettled as a consequence of the stand taken at the City Council meeting last night by Alderman Andrew McGavin.

Alderman McGavin contended the appointment of Matthew McConnell was irregular, inasmuch as no ballot had been taken; that Mr. McConnell was not a member of the regular staff, and that his appointment as a temporary employee had never been reported to the council.

Acting-Mayor P. R. Brown took the stand that the council had acted upon the advice of the comptroller, who reported the appointment was in order, and also upon the recommendation of the fire wardens. As the council had voted for the appointment, it had signified the procedure was regular.

However, to settle the matter, the appointment was opened for reconsideration, and H. S. Pringle, solicitor; D. A. Macdonald, comptroller, and Mayor Leeming were asked to bring in a report as to the regularity of the appointment.

Old Bible Used Here At Service

A Thanksgiving Day service preached by Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson at First United Church last Sunday became specially significant when he read passages from a Holy Bible printed at Oxford, England, in 1751.

The same Bible was used at Halifax by United Empire Loyalists 136 years ago during the first Thanksgiving service held there. It has been in the Boggs family for many years and at one time was the medium upon which wives of United Empire Loyalists in the United States swore they did not know where their men folks were.

Beaumont Boggs, of this city, came into possession of the valuable old Bible by direct inheritance.

ROCKY MOUNTAINS IMPRESS VISITOR

Ian Mein Declares They Are Grander Than Anything Seen Elsewhere in the World

Although he has traveled three-quarters of the distance around the world in the last eight months, Ian Mein, Melbourne, Australia, saw nothing to compare with the Canadian Rockies in interest or grandeur. He saw the wonders of Europe and the mystic Orient, but, he said, he was impressed most of all with the Rocky Mountains and the country between Calgary and Sicamous.

With his father, W. E. Mein, retired sheep grazer of New South Wales; his mother and sister, Miss Phyllis Mein, Mr. Mein arrived from Vancouver yesterday afternoon and registered at the Empress Hotel.

He said he was anxious to see Victoria, of which he had heard so much all across Canada and even in Australia.

The family left Melbourne early last Spring and were in London for the Silver Jubilee celebrations, which delighted them all. They traveled for a time on the Continent and left for America on September 27. Today they will go to Seattle on their way to Los Angeles, where, after a short stay, they will board ship for Australia.

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"

If October 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p.m. and from 8:15 to 10:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a.m., from 12:15 to 2:15 p.m. and from 10:15 p.m. until midnight.

Mistakes that might be made this day, in all likelihood, can be corrected. Do not let them dishearten or discourage you. It is seldom that an error cannot be rectified. There will be many opportunities to make money on this date, providing the right amount of energy is expended. In social circles there is likely to be a great deal of activity. Friendly gatherings are likely to prove the medium of bringing old friends together, and responsible for new friendships being formed. Gossiping may cause trouble and hard feelings, so it might be well to refrain from chatter involving other people's private affairs. Married and engaged couples, and those seeking to escape the loneliness of single life will find this an auspicious day for get-together talks and an exchange of confidences.

If a woman and October 29 is your birthday, you perhaps have such a keen sense of discrimination that you find it difficult to have your expectations satisfactorily fulfilled. You will find your mind more contented if you make allowances for imperfections. You probably have a great deal of physicial endurance. Outdoor sports should interest you, and if participated in, your prowess may win recognition. You might be susceptible to flattery. Be careful it does not warp your conception of sincerity. It might be well to remember true friends sometimes feel called upon to speak the plain unvarnished truth, and verity is seldom complimentary. Physical culture, teaching, writing or selling may be among the profitable lines in which you can engage successfully. The earlier you enter the marital state, the better it might be.

The child born on October 29 generally, when it reaches school age, gives ample evidence that it possesses a mind and will of its own. This indicates strength of character.

If a man and October 29 is your natal day, your eagerness to add to your knowledge, as well as readiness to absorb new ideas, will help your advancement. As an educator, clergyman, writer, artist, politician or salesman you should be able to earn a very satisfactory income.

New Regulation—The City Council last night amended the Foods, Fuel and Fair Weights and Measures By-Law to make it compulsory for peddlers to carry suitable scales when selling commodities from door to door. H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, with the market committee, will draft a regulation by which a unit of sawdust may be measured.

Lives Are Shorter—Pacific halibut have been known to live to upwards of thirty years of age, and not fifty years as previously stated, officials of the British Columbia Fisheries Department pointed out yesterday. If the premier flatfish of the Pacific Northwest sometimes do attain the half-century mark, it must be through avoidance of fishlines after reaching the years of discretion, it was intimated.

Double Charge—In the city police court yesterday Jack Dunnett, on a charge of driving to the common danger when he collided with a gasoline pump, doing damage to the amount of about $25, was fined $50. On a charge of failing to report the accident, he was fined $25. The excuse offered was that the owner of the car, who had asked him to drive, had grabbed the wheel, causing the accident. The owner had also said he would report the matter, Dunnett said.

Canvass for Money—Complaints have been received by Police Chief Thomas Heatley that two young women have been making a house-to-house canvass in residential areas and have been obtaining money by false pretences. Police were informed the women were claiming to be in destitute circumstances and in need of funds, but investigation of their stories had proved this not to be the case. Chief Heatley warns persons to investigate any cases of alleged destitution before contributing to them.

The Young Mother

Has her health problems

Happy and fortunate is the bride
Who enters married life
In full health and vigor of mind and body.
Perhaps the importance of robust health
At the time of marriage is sometimes overlooked.
But the cares and worries of the household
And the tremendous strain of baby's coming
Demand an abundance of rich, red blood
And a healthy, buoyant nervous system.
Modern life and present financial stringencies
Tend to make the life of the woman in the home
More difficult and more nerve racking.
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food can be of very great benefit to you
Both before and after baby's coming.
By restoring health of body and mind
It will save you from the irritabilities
Which tend to destroy the happiness of the home.
It will restore hope and confidence
At a time when ill health lets you see only the dark side of things.

"Goblin Night" Should Always Be Celebrated

Hallowe'en Is Like Circus, a Good Excuse for Adults to Be "Kids" Again—Fascinating Menus and Direction for Recipes Are Given for Hostesses

By JESSIE MARIE DeBOTH

IT is a fine old festival we should celebrate every year, and I am going to talk about Hallowe'en and urge you to do something about it this year! The old legend goes that on the eve of All Saints' Day the ghosts of the departed are free to return to earth and play all the pranks on mortals that their superior knowledge and wisdom, gained in the spirit world, enable them to play on us. We mortals, not to be outdone, play our own games and pranks, and show that we, too, know how to laugh, have a good time, and enjoy life.

It's a good festival to observe with all the zest and fun we can invent, especially in these hard days of limited budgets and necessarily simple pleasures. Besides, the children enjoy it, and, like going to the circus, that's excuse enough for grown-ups. If you need an additional argument, it provides the opportunity to do and to eat a lot of things your "dignity" or "etiquette" might forbid on other occasions, and which secretly you probably like!

With the charcoal from the burnt end of a match, a hair ribbon, a Windsor tie, and some old clothes, you can rig up a "costume" and a make-up in five minutes that will provide five hours' of hilarious fun. A bucket of water and a dozen apples will evoke enough laughter "bobbing" for them to make the police wonder where the "riot" is—and if you haven't a bucket, try a dishpan! And be sure to prepare enough food for the appetites that are certain to be worked up.

Just put the food on the sideboard, buffet, or table, and let everyone help himself. For a menu or recipes, try these:

MENU FOR "GOBLIN" SUPPER

Hallowe'en casserole, crisp combination salad, olive and nut sandwiches, cheese rolls, goblin pie, raisins, assorted nuts, gumdrops, coffee, cider.

HALLOWE'EN CENTREPIECE

Use a good-sized tray, round or oblong, and cover it with an orange colored paper doily with a deep fringe cut around it. In the centre place a "pumpkin face," cut out eyes and nose, insert a night-light candle inside, put the top back on and set a large black hat on at a jaunty angle. Around the pumpkin arrange popcorn balls wrapped in orange, black and clear collophane; border these with taffy apples.

TABLE DECORATIONS

Cover the dining-room table with a white linen cloth; put a wide strip of black paper through the centre lengthwise; decorate the corners with weird looking black cats, witches and bats. Use black or orange candles in gaily decorated candle holders and gaudy Hallowe'en napkins. If the budget permits, have noise-making gadgets and paper hats for each guest.

OLIVE AND NUT SANDWICHES

Grind a ten-ounce bottle of stuffed olives with one-eighth pound black walnuts and one-eighth pound of English walnuts. Moisten with salad dressing. Spread between white and dark bread buttered slices.

HALLOWE'EN CASSEROLE

One cup rice, 1½ quarts boiling water, 2 cups tomatoes, 1 cup mushrooms, 1 medium onion (chopped), ½ cup butter, 2 cups peas, 1 green pepper (chopped), 1 cup diced celery, 4 cups cooked veal (diced), salt and pepper, meat gravy. Method—Wash rice, drop in boiling salted water and tomatoes and cook until just tender. In meantime, saute the mushrooms and onion in butter. Add liquid from can of peas, the pepper and celery and simmer gently for about ten minutes. Combine all ingredients, turn into large greased baking dish. If the mixture seems dry, add meat gravy. Sprinkle buttered crumbs over the top and cook in a hot oven (400 F.) until thoroughly heated through and browned on top. Serve from casserole.

GOBLIN PIE

One and one-half cups canned pumpkin, ⅔ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons light syrup, 1¼ teaspoons ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs (beaten), 1¾ cups scalded milk. Method—Turn pumpkin into a large bowl, and mix in the ingredients in order given. Pour into a pastry-lined pie pan. Bake ten minutes in a hot oven (425 F.), then reduce heat to moderate (340 F.) and bake until pumpkin is set. Total time one hour. Just before placing on table, pile high with whipped cream and sprinkle generously with black and orange jelly bean candies.

CHEESE ROLLS

One-half pound yellow cheese, 1 cup boiling water, ⅔ cake yeast, ⅓ cup lukewarm milk, 1½ tablespoons sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt, 4½ cups flour. Method—Put cheese through food grinder and beat until smooth with boiling water. Add sugar and salt to milk, and dissolve yeast in this. Mix all together and add flour to make a fairly stiff dough. Turn onto a floured board and knead until smooth and spongy. Place in a greased bowl, cover, and set in a warm place until dough is light—three-quarters of an hour. Work down well and allow to rise again. Repeat and allow to rise the third time for about fifteen to twenty minutes. Shape into rolls, place on a well-greased pan. Let stand ten minutes before baking. Bake ten minutes in a hot oven (450 F.), and the balance of the time in a moderate oven (350 F.).

In Charge of Puppet Show

MISS LILLIAN MICHAELIS

Who is one of the conveners arranging the puppet show, "The Wizard of Oz," to be presented here by the Cornish Players at the Empire Theatre on Saturday afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Commodore Broughton Chapter, I.O.D.E. Tickets are now on sale at the Marionette Library, where the puppets are also on display. During the intermission of the show, the Lyric Trio, composed of Miss Margaret Pringle, pianist; Mr. John Pymm, violinist, and Mr. Herbert Boller, 'celloist, will play musical selections.

To Publish Programme Of Events

At the monthly meeting of the recently-formed Conductors' and Organists' Association, held in the Memorial Hall, the members were the guests of Stanley Bulley, organist of Christ Church Cathedral. President W. H. Muncy was in the chair.

Methods were discussed for increasing the interest in the better class of music and concerts, also of helping each other. It was decided that a column should appear in the press announcing forthcoming concerts a month ahead, so that no overlapping should happen. This could be accomplished, it was thought, if all conductors, organists and others organizing concerts, notified Cyril Warren, 1217 McKenzie Street (telephone E 4803), publicity secretary for the association. Mr. Warren was asked to have an announcement made in the press from time to time so that concert managers could keep in touch with the musical events.

The members were then invited to review some of the latest choral music in the annual reference library of the Memorial Hall. This proved to be a most enjoyable feature of the meeting and the members were enabled to become acquainted with some of the latest choral works published. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Tupman and Mrs. Muncy.

Clubs-Societies

Victoria W.B.A.

The members of the local review of the Women's Benefit Association celebrated its forty-third anniversary of the founding of the order by holding a delightful banquet in Spencer's dining-room recently. The tables were beautifully decorated by tall vases of Autumn flowers. Mrs. Burnett, president of the review, acted as toastmistresss. Mrs. L. Schmelz, vice-president, proposed the toast to the order. Mrs. J. Ricketts, a past president, in responding, spoke of the marvelous progress made by the association, its membership numbering hundreds of thousands, including the cradle room department, junior rose court, girls' clubs, adult review and pioneer clubs. The toast to the pioneers was proposed by Mrs. Jean Bowden, junior supervisor, to which Mrs. F. W. Laing, president of the Pioneer Club, replied by speaking of the purposes for which the club was formed. Mrs. B. McAllister, financial secretary, proposed the toast to the Girls' Club, to which Miss A. Reid, club president, responded by outlining plans for future activities. A short business meeting was held later in the Victoria Truth Centre, after which a social evening was enjoyed, with Mesdames Burnell, Evans, Bowden and Malcolm in charge. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Laxton and her committee.

Cowichan Station W.A.

St. Andrew's Woman's Auxiliary, Cowichan Station, held its monthly meeting on Friday, at the home of Major and Mrs. Hunton, with a good attendance. One new member, Mrs. Brown, was welcomed. The president spoke with feeling of the grave loss sustained by the branch in the passing of the honorary vice-president, Mrs. H. A. Collison, and gave witness to the great help her leadership had always given to the senior branch, and to the juniors. A standing vote of sympathy was passed by the members to the rector and his family. The first chapter of the new study book was presented by Mrs. Cole. Arrangements were made for the packing of the Prairie relief box by the president and Mrs. Hunton, and thanks were extended to the Ladies' Guild for contributions. The Columbia Coast Mission bale will be packed as usual in November, at the home of Mrs. Stewart. Mrs. Burnett displayed the fine quilt completed for the bale. Nearly thirty ladies were present, together with the Junior Girls' Auxiliary, under the direction of Mrs. W. Cryer. Rev. A. E. M. Danks, who has recently taken over the Baptist parish here, was introduced. Rev. E. Robathan opened the meeting with prayer, after which Mrs. Porter introduced Lady Lake and Mrs. Hartley. LANGFORD

The monthly meeting of the Langford Institute was held recently in the hall, Dunford Road. Mrs. D. B. P. Bullen presided. The secretary read the minutes, financial report and correspondence, and was asked to send a letter of thanks to Miss Ravenhill for her donation to the Solarium towards the X-ray equipment. Mrs. Bullen gave a brief account of the South Vancouver district convention which she attended recently. Members decided to give the children a Hallowe'en party as usual. Mr. Flintoff, of Victoria, will show motion pictures in the evening. Miss L. M. A. Savory, convener of agriculture, was responsible for the very good programme which followed the business meeting. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, gave an interesting talk on the sheep-raising industry. He stated that Langford, Colwood and surrounding districts raised thousands of sheep in the early eighties, and a tannery was located on the Belmont Lagoon, now part of the Dunsmuir estate. A. J. Housten, of the Department of Agriculture, showed some splendid films of the wool and leather industries and colored pictures of flowers grown at the James Seed Farm, near Duncan. S. S. Annual Meeting and Tea Held by Juniors

The annual meeting and silver tea of the Junior W.A. of St. Michael's and All Angels', Royal Oak, which took place in the parish hall on Saturday afternoon, proved a very happy and profitable one.

Three dolls were dressed for the diocesan competition, also candy bags and scrapbooks for the Columbia Coast Mission. Mary Burgess and Helen Philops soon disposed of the useful articles on the work table and the candy in charge of Barbara Heal, Doris Oliver and Joan Peet was in great demand.

Mooseheart Foundation Celebrated

At the K. of P. Hall, 1415 Broad Street, His Worship Mayor Leeming officially opened, yesterday afternoon, amid a large number of members and friends, the bazaar and frolic held by the Loyal Order of Moose, No. 1390, and Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 25, in honor of the twenty-second anniversary of the founding of Moosehcart, the famous child city.

The hall was artistically decorated in lodge colors and the stalls were very attractively set off with red, white and purple roses. The mayor was escorted into the room by the convener, Miss D. Guelpa, and was presented to chapter and lodge officers.

Mayor Leeming spoke on the wonderful work done by the Loyal Order of Moose and the women's chapter. The purpose of the order might be but a name to some, but the fraternity interpreted in the light of Mooseheart, when one saw a great procession of orphaned kiddies tenderly cared for, reared in an atmosphere of ethical beauty, taught the fundamentals of character and service so that they might start into manhood and womanhood prepared and unafraid, then one began to appreciate and realize the purposefulness of this international fraternity.

TEA AND SUPPER

Afternoon tea and light supper were under the capable management of Mrs. R. Panting, and those serving were Mesdames L. Quaintance, H. Parker, O. Guelpa, Miss E. Garrett; at the receipt of customs was Mrs. A. Hatcher, and Mrs. K. Youson read teacups. The home-cooking, with its tempting wares, was convened by Mrs. M. Pearce. The sewing and novelties was convened by Mrs. M. Morrie, Mrs. E. Humber and Mrs. C. Drysdale, who also were in charge of the contests.

The baby stall was in charge of Mrs. P. Huckin; candy, Mrs. E. Burke; flowers, Mrs. O. Randy; games of chance and the ever-popular housie-housie, Mrs. H. Allan; wheel, Miss B. Tibballs, and candles, Mrs. M. Crabtree.

The evening was featured by a most successful amateur programme, the following taking part: Billy Hughes (seven years old), Evelyn McLarin, (eight years old), Billy Lorendi (eight years old), and Stan Cawsey's Ensemble.

The affair will be open until 6 p.m. today and will be brought to a close by a carnival dance and card party in the evening, commencing at 9 o'clock.

The fats used in the manufacture of butter substitutes are sesame oil, peanut oil, oelo oil, neutral lard, coconut oil, corn oil, mustard oil and edible tallow.

Drama With Moral to Be Given Soon

"Peace and happiness, the prayer of all civilized nations of the earth," is the theme of the cavalcade of understanding, "Let's Be Friends," which is being produced by the Y.W.C.A., under the direction of Ethel Reese Burns, at the Empire Theatre, Friday and Saturday, November 8 and 9. The dialogue and continuity are from the pen of Miss Dorothy Crighton, who is making a name for herself in the world of literature, having published several short stories and is successfully entering the field of drama.

This production has a special significance, coming at a time when the world will soon be commemorating the signing of the Armistice marking the termination of the Great War and now when the world is facing another crisis. The people of a world still haunted by the worst war in history, are definitely peace-minded and it is with the support of such great international organizations as the Y.W.C.A. that a world fellowship may be hoped for.

PLEA FOR TOLERANCE

Miss Crighton describes her title "Let's Be Friends" as a cavalcade of understanding, being a plea for tolerance among the nations. It is the masses which are most affected by war and it is from the masses that must come the desire and effort for peace.

The conveners of countries have chosen scenes in the everyday life of the people they represent, laughter-loving people who ask no more of the world than to live in harmony with their neighboring nations, pursuing their own daily tasks with a peace of mind and a sense of well-being which the people of a nation at peace alone can know.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

SOS.

I am a timid soul and hate bloodshed. Not for me the sadistic pleasure of gaping at street accidents. I'd rather go around the block. I have the same feeling toward gruesome tragedy at the bridge table (unless, of course, it happens to my opponents). Not long ago an effort was made to constitute me the judge of a game among better-than-average players, when a catastrophe befell one pair and there was some question in placing the guilt.

Both teams were vulnerable. North dealt and bid one heart, East doubled, and South passed, holding:

♠ 7 4, ♥ 6 5 2, ♦ J 8 6 3 2, ♣ 9 6 2

West passed for penalties. "Redouble!" barked North in loud, clear tones. East passed and South, after much wiggling of feet and waggling of head, did likewise. West passed for penalties again, and North was faced with the prospect of playing the hand at one heart, redoubled and vulnerable. Let no one envy North his task, for his hand was:

♠ 6 5 2, ♥ A K 7 3, ♦ K 10 4, ♣ K 10 8

East, properly inspired by West's faithful pass, made the killing opening, a small trump. After that it was pure slaughter. North managed to make his ace and king of trumps and was down 2,800 points.

The howling and screaming between the partners did full justice to the situation, and suddenly realizing I was in grave danger I started to pussyfoot out of the room. But they caught me and posed the question I feared. I pleaded a previous engagement, but they were adamant. They wanted to know who was wrong.

Cornered, I had to tell them. "If you mean the redouble," I faltered, "I'm afraid North will have to plead guilty."

"That was an SOS. redouble," cried North. "This moron partner of mine should have bid two diamonds."

But I could not permit intimidation "O, no, it wasn't," I said firmly. There no longer is any such thing as an SOS. redouble. We played it for a while, particularly in the case of a no trump bid which has been doubled and passed for penalties, but then we found it valueless and gave it up. After a take-out double of a one bid the partner can bid any good suit he has if he is afraid to play at the doubled contract of one. When your partner didn't bid two diamonds of his own free will you should have assumed that he didn't feel that the one heart bid could be improved. If you wanted him to bid, nevertheless, you could have rescued yourself by bidding one no trump, which obviously would show support for any suit he might have.

"Your redouble meant that you wanted to play the hand at one heart, redoubled. The SOS. redouble has been erased from the game and your partner was right to pass."

LIGHT DOUBLES

The greatest profits in bridge often may come from doubles of low contracts, and for that reason it is proper to make light penalty doubles of an opponent's overcall when, even if he makes his contract, he cannot score a game. Since such doubles may be borderline, the doubler's partner may take the double out if he has not the proper type of hand to assist in defeating the doubled contract.

The bidding (North-South vulnerable):

East	South	West	North
1 ♠	2 ♦	Dbl.	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	4 ♥	(final bid)

Opening lead, ♠ six by South.

West's double of two diamonds was a suggestion and no more Game was a suggestion and no more. Game not support spades and there was a possibility of defeating two diamonds 500 points. If made, two diamonds doubled would give South only eighty points, less than game. But East, with a singleton diamond, could not help West against diamonds, and rescued, even though he had to bid a weak suit. The four heart contract was made. Dummy's spade ace won the first trick, a heart was led to the ace and a finesse taken for South's queen. After all South's trumps had been drawn, East played out his spades, discarding two clubs from dummy, and then led a diamond ace and two clubs. Two diamonds doubled would have been made.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question—An opponent revoked against me and I received the usual penalty of two tricks from him. I found that if he had not revoked I could have won three tricks, so I actually lost one trick by his revoke. Could I claim another trick in the penalty.

Answer—No. You must take your chances. The two trick penalty usually is adequate compensation, and more often than not you gain when your opponents revoke. In rare cases you will lose. Of course, it would be highly unethical for your opponent to revoke purposely in order to gain a trick. Such tactics are equivalent to cheating. If the revoke was unintentional you simply suffered from the breaks of the game.

MOVERIA IN WITH CARGO

Freighter Arrived Early Today—Jackson and Tantalus Due Inbound

Coming in from the United Kingdom by way of Panama, California and Washington ports, the Donaldson freighter Ms. Moveria was due alongside Rithet Piers at 1 o'clock this morning, according to A. E. Shanks, of Rithet Consolidated. The Moveria had consignments of freight for Victoria amounting to 100 tons of general, and was to commence unloading immediately on arrival in an endeavor to get to Vancouver as smartly as possible. Captain J. L. McQueen is in command of the Moveria.

From the Philippine Islands, via China and Japan ports, the American Mail Line Ss. President Jackson, Captain Morris Seavey, U.S.N.R., commander, is due to reach William Head at 9 o'clock this morning, according to advices received by W. M. Allan from the ship yesterday. This should bring the big liner alongside Rithet Piers at 10 o'clock. The Jackson has passengers and mails for Victoria. She will proceed to Seattle on the completion of her business here.

BLUE FUNNEL SHIP

From China and Japan ports, the Blue Funnel Line Ss. Tantalus is nearing Victoria. The liner should be docking at Rithet Piers about midnight this date. She has passengers, mails and cargo for this port.

Arriving from Mainland ports Sunday morning, the freighter Pacific Commerce was loading lumber all day yesterday for ports in the United Kingdom. The Pacific Commerce should be ready to sail some time today, King Brothers announced yesterday afternoon.

W. K. Maier, vice-president of Maierform of America, Incorporated, announces that during the last few weeks the company booked nine more orders in Europe. The outstanding orders are a motorship of 19,200 tons displacement for the Hamburg-South American Line, two 13,000-ton vessels for the Joseph Constantine Line, Limited, as well as two high-speed vessels for the German Navy.

SCRAP IRON HIGH

Joseph Ward, chairman of the British Shipbreakers' Association, speaking in Sheffield recently, said that one of the most serious problems that had to be faced has been the abnormal prices Italian buyers had given for obsolete ships, enabling them to purchase last year twenty-three British ships of a total of 142,727 tons gross, in addition to foreign-owned vessels.

The prices paid, particularly during the last six months, he stated, had been such as it would be impossible for British shipbreakers to pay without an advance of at least £1 per ton in the price of the resultant scrap.

Normandie to Be Withdrawn From Route Until May

Henri Morin de Linclays, general manager of the French Line in the United States, who arrived at New York from France on the last voyage of the Normandie, made the announcement that the big superliner would make one more voyage and then be laid up until March 4, 1936.

Until then the Atlantic service will be maintained by the Ile de France, the Champlain and the Lafayette. If business should improve during the Winter, the company may put the Paris back in service as a cabin ship, calling at Boston and Irish ports and making cruises to the Mediterranean.

The plan of the Cunard-White Star Line to operate the Queen Mary as a cabin ship, he said, was "merely a piece of humbug intended to annoy the United States Lines because of the Washington and the Manhattan."

Rainbow Sea Cadets

Harris, 94; Cadet P. Marchant, 94; C.P.O. Wilson, 92; Cadet L. Miles, 92; L.S. W. Howell, 88; Cadet Acland, 86; Capt. Brown, 86; A.L.S. Gwilt, 84; Cadet T. Drysdale, 82; Cadet Bennel, 80; Cadet Norman, 76; Cadet Grant, 76; Cadet Moore, 76; Cadet Meadmore, 70; Cadet Hardy, 70; Cadet Brown, 70; Cadet Rawson, 70, and Cadet J. Drysdale, 70. A. Moore is acting secretary of the rifle club, and Capt. W. Brown is officer commanding musketry.

CONGRESSIONAL PARTY ARRIVES

Vice-President Garner Will Be Received by Emperor Of Japan

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 28.—Hon. John Nance Garner, Vice-President of the United States, and members of the Congressional party to the Philippine Islands, arrived here this morning from Seattle and Victoria, B.C., aboard the liner President Grant, after crossing the North Pacific.

Weather on the trip was reported fairly good, but many of those in the party succumbed to that common illness of an ocean crossing.

WELCOMED AT PIER

At the pier, to extend a semi-official welcome, were members of the Japanese Foreign Office and the United States Embassy. Tomorrow Mr. Garner and Representative Joseph W. Byrns, Speaker of the House, will have a private audience in Tokio with Emperor Hirohito, at the Imperial Palace.

Members of the party were deluged with requests from Japanese newspapers for statements, but all the visitors would say was that the United States was anxious for the friendship of Japan. Mr. Garner emphasized the unofficial nature of the visit, but said he was happy to see and visit, for the first time, such a progressive nation as Japan.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Many social activities are planned for Monday evening, in Tokio, for the visitors, who will return to the President Grant tomorrow evening and proceed to Kobe, where a civic reception is planned; Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila. They will reach the latter port on November 8 and remain there nearly two weeks before sailing by the President Jefferson for Seattle, via Honolulu.

The formal inauguration of Manuel Quezon as president of the new Philippine Commonwealth is set for November 15.

DAVID SLOAN LEFT MORE THAN MILLION

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (CP).—The will of David Sloan, well-known British Columbia mining man, killed at Alta Lake, B.C., last August in a plane accident, was filed for probate in Supreme Court today, disposing of a net estate of $1,112,198.

It will be shared equally by the widow and three children, David, John and Monica.

The estate includes a $698,000 interest in Pioneer Gold Mines of British Columbia, Ltd., of which Sloan was general manager; $293,800 in International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd.; $161,827 in Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., and $137,558 in cash and life insurance.

Treasure Dreams Vanish for Time Being

Al Munro, "Carbolic" Baker and Erskine Nichol, leaders of the Cocos Island expedition, which was to have left Vancouver for the south early next month, must make other plans to reach the island now, owing to the loss of their ship Windward, which went ashore near Kitsilano, and was reported yesterday afternoon as breaking up.

TECK-HUGHES CLOSES YEAR

Report Shows Profit of 48.5 Cents a Share—Surplus Is Increased

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP).—A net profit of $2,336,888, equivalent to 48.5 cents per share, is shown by Teck-Hughes Gold Mines, in its report for the year ended August 31, released tonight.

Income from bullion recovery, after deducting $338,281 for bullion tax, was $4,678,875. Added to this is $64,364 as interest earned on general investments and $67,305 as interest on Lamaque bonds, making income for the period $4,810,545.

Expenditures were $2,194,202, of which mining costs were the largest, at $1,083,287, leaving an operating profit of $2,616,342. A further item of $279,453 provided for taxes, making the net surplus $2,336,888.

This amount, the report states, added to the surplus brought forward from the previous year of $2,787,961 and added profit from bonds sold of $19,027, brought surplus credit to $6,143,877. Dividends paid from November 1, 1934, were responsible for an outlay of $2,403,572, leaving a balance of credit as of August 31, of $3,740,305.

MINING COSTS

During the fiscal year the company treated 383,958 tons of ore from the mines and 40,290 tons of tailings, with total recovery of bullion and precipitates equivalent to 144,384.37 troy ounces of fine gold. Of this amount 4,610.25 ounces came from the retreatment of tailings. Costs per ton of ore treated were $5.17, while the cost of gold produced was $15.19 per ounce.

R. J. Henry, general superintendent, estimates positive ore reserves September 1 at 683,709 tons with gold content of 280,056 troy ounces, or an average of 8.19 dwt. per ton.

D. L. H. Forbes, president, says the outstanding feature of the year is one that is not yet reflected in balance sheet except as "investment in Lamaque Gold Mines, Limited, at costs" amounting to $2,088,807.

CARRY BULK TO BRITAIN

Ships Loading Lumber Here Take Largest Portion to U.K. Ports

Export of lumber through the local assembly plant at Ogden Point Piers is continuing in good volume, and there is every indication that the movement will continue strong for some time to come. The bulk of the lumber is going to United Kingdom ports, where the housing scheme instituted last year is only about 10 per cent completed.

Figures furnished by King Brothers, who handle practically all the lumber going aboard ships here, show that in the next six or seven-day period, slightly over 6,000,000 feet of lumber will be loaded locally for overseas destinations.

The Pacific Commerce, now loading, is taking 800,000 feet for the United Kingdom. Due tomorrow, the British freighter Rossington Court is due to load 1,200,000, also for United Kingdom ports. On Wednesday two ships are expected, the Hopecrag and the Tigre, to load approximately 400,000 feet for the same destination.

On Thursday, the Japanese freighter Kohnan Maru will arrive to load 700,000 feet for Australia, while next Sunday and Monday four vessels are due, the George M. Embiricos, the Cressington Court, the Aldington Court and the Slantar. The Slantar will lift 500,000 feet for South Africa; the George M. Embiricos 1,000,000 feet; the Aldington Court and the Cressington Court 1,500,000 feet between them, the three latter vessels all loading for the United Kingdom.

Fishing Interests of Puget Sound Claim Traps Were More Help Than Hindrance

The Puget Sound pack of salmon is running far below average, largely as a result of the outlawing of fish traps in Washington. This action was said to have been financed by the Fishermen's Union. "It is now generally agreed," writes a shipper, "that the traps were a help rather than a hindrance to the operations of the purse seine fishermen."

The total pack up to August 24 on the Sound was 186,666 cases, compared with the full 1934 pack of 500,000 cases and 771,776 cases in 1933.

As to the latest on the Alaska salmon pack. With many districts reporting final, the pack of Alaska red salmon has reached 784,725 cases; Alaska pinks, 3,242,387 cases; Alaska chums, 772,693 cases; cohos, 144,736 cases, kings, 26,259 cases. The total Alaska pack has reached 4,984,212 cases, as against 7,266,422 cases in 1934 and 5,074,163 cases in 1933.

Fast Destroyers Launched; Sailors Are Hosts to Public

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP).—The tars of the United States Fleet played host to the citizenry today in a navy day observance high-spotted by the launching of two fast destroyers and the laying of a cruiser's keel at Philadelphia.

Along the seaboards, where a ship of the fleet was in port, the public was invited to go aboard and see how the sailors work and live.

EXPLOSION ON FREIGHT SHIP

Longshoremen Left Vessel's Hold Shortly Before Oil Tank Blew Up

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (CP).—Members of a longshore gang aboard the British tramp steamer Frederika Lensen escaped injury today when sudden extinguishing of lights caused them to leave the hold five minutes before an oil tank blew up with terrific force, bulging several plates in the hull and spreading fire through the engine-room.

Fire had been smouldering in the ship's bunkers for several days, but firemen believed they had the flames under control. Longshoremen had been removing coal from the affected reserve bunker today, but when the shore lights suddenly went out they left the hold.

Within five minutes of the time the men quit the hold, the fire apparently reached the oil tank, which blew up. Starboard plates, already overheated by the fire, were bulged out by the explosion.

FIRE CONTINUED

Belching black smoke and gases rolled through the hold in dense volume. Firemen donned gas masks to fight the fire, which they soon had under control. The fire continued to burn in the bunkers, however.

Captain E. Blumberg, master of the ship, stated more than 500 tons of coal were on board. They bunkered at Newport News before coming here, under charter to the Anglo-Canadian Shipping Company, Ltd., and the bunker fire developed in the reserve bunkers, presumably from spontaneous combustion. No estimate of the damage was made.

IMMIGRANTS FOR BRAZIL

Japanese Company, Assisted By Government, Will Colonize Along Amazon

Establishment of an emigration company to settle Japanese colonists in Brazil was decided upon during the latter part of September at a conference of Government officials and business men at the Japanese Premier's official residence, according to advices received here. The company will be capitalized at 5,000,000 yen, will receive a government subsidy for ten years, and during that period will send 20,000 Japanese settlers to the Amazon, Rengo reports.

A bill was passed at the last session of the Japanese Diet authorizing Government subsidies to emigration concerns to be established in the future. Following its passage, the Overseas Ministry submitted a plan for Japanese colonization for South American countries to the Overseas Colonization Commission. The result was the conference, called by Overseas Minister Hideo Kodama.

PRESENT AT PARLEY

Present at the conference were Count Kodama, Finance Minister Takahashi and Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, representing the Government, and Baron Seinosuke Goh, Seihin Ikeda, Manzo Kushida, H. Mori, H. Takayama and Masatsume Kokura, all prominent financial leaders. Also attending were Tsukasa Kamitsuka, authority on colonial affairs and president of the Amazonian Colonial Institute in Brazil, and Sampei Takayama, director of the Colonial Affairs Bureau in the Overseas Ministry.

The conference was opened by Count Kodama, who reported on the results of the negotiations which the Colonization Commission had been conducting with private interests interested in emigration. He was followed by Mr. Kamitsuka and Mr. Takayama, who discussed conditions in Brazil and the lot of Japanese colonists there. Foreign Minister Hirota and Finance Minister Takahashi both expressed the desire to see the proposed emigration company materialize as soon as possible, and the outcome of the discussion was a decision to organize immediately a concern to be called the Brazil Colonization Company.

HEAD OFFICE AT TOKIO

Financial leaders will be selected to promote the enterprise and the inaugural meeting of the new company has already been held. The company which will maintain its head office in Tokio and a branch office on the Amazon will take over the business of the present Amazonian Colonial Institute. About 500 settlers will be sent to start with. They will engage principally in the cultivation of rice, coffee and cotton.

The Government subsidy will take the form of a guarantee of a return of 6 per cent on the original investment for the first ten years.

LANGFORD STARTING DRAMATIC SOCIETY

—LANGFORD, Oct. 28.—A meeting was held in the Women's Institute Hall on Thursday evening for the purpose of forming a Dramatic Society. Kenneth Hincks presided. Miss Joyce Cropper read a very interesting paper from Major L. Bullock-Webster on drama and amateur acting.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. S. B. Cropper; vice-president, Mrs. R. J. Reynolds; secretary-treasurer, George Smith.

Members decided to produce two short plays in November. Mrs. E. H. Brock and Miss J. Cropper will undertake the preliminary training, with Mrs. W. E. Stevenson, of Colwood, as producer.

BROADWAY HIT NOW ON SCREEN

Dominion Theatre Is Showing "The Bishop Misbehaves," Starring Edmund Gwenn

When "The Bishop Misbehaves" swung into production at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, one of the most charming and humorous stage hits of the current Broadway season began its progress to the screen. Now released, it comes today to the Dominion Theatre.

Written by Frederick Jackson and produced by John Golden, the quaint English mystery comedy served as a successful starring vehicle for Walter Connelly.

Maureen O'Sullivan, fastest-rising young screen actress, who recently scored in a prominent role in Garbo's "Anna Karenina," plays the romantic feminine lead opposite Norman Foster, popular young leading man.

The story deals humorously with the madcap revenge of a young English girl on an old dodo who has embezzled her ailing father's money. Failing to find justice in the courts, she resorts to an ingeniously planned robbery, in which she is aided by a young American architect, who sets himself up as a friend of Al Capone's and a cluster of enthusiastic, but non-professional English characters.

Into this melee walks the kindly Bishop of Broadminster, full of crime theories gained by a lifetime of reading detective fiction. Humorous and suspense-charged episodes follow on the heels of one another until, miraculously, the bishop stumbles upon a solution.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Two actors in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film version of the famous play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," now playing at the Playhouse Theatre, created their roles in the original production on the New York stage. They are Ian Wolfe, who plays Bevan, and Vernon Downing, who appears as Octavius. Both men were seen in the cast with Katharine Cornell in dozens of American cities when the stage star took the famous play on tour.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Claudette Colbert's favorite hobby is taking kodak pictures, and she adds to the interest of the fad by developing and printing her own snapshots. Miss Colbert is now appearing on the screen of the Columbia Theatre in the starring role of John M. Stahl's powerful Universal drama, "Imitation of Life."

CAPITOL THEATRE Wylie Matson, a character actor who has proven himself to be the most authentic and inspired drunk in talking films, turns from his usual characterization to play the part of "Mr. Memory," a vaudeville actor, in the G.B. production, "The 39 Steps," starring Robert Donat and Madeleine Carroll. The exact significance of "Mr. Memory," whose strange gift for instantly memorizing anything once told or read, must remain a mystery until you witness "The 39 Steps" at the Capitol Theatre.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Capitol—Robert Donat, in "39 Steps."

Columbia — "Imitation of Life," starring Claudette Colbert.

Dominion—Maureen O'Sullivan in "The Bishop Misbehaves."

Little Orpheum — "Behold My Wife," featuring Sylvia Sidney.

Playhouse—Norma Shearer, in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

ORPHEUM THEATRE When Sylvia Sidney and Gene Raymond appear in the leading roles of Paramount's "Behold My Wife," now showing at the Little Orpheum Theatre, it will be the third time that this popular team have appeared together, but only their second movie venture. Years ago, before either Miss Sidney or Raymond came to the screen, they were featured together in "Mirror," a play, on Broadway.

ORGAN RECITAL TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

The organ recital by Pietro Yon, assisted by Mrs. T. H. Johns, soprano, will be given tonight at the Metropolitan United Church. The programme is as follows:

"First Sonata" (A. Guilmant); "Geau Bambino" (P. Yon); "Prelude and Fugue in D Major" (J. S. Bach); "My Heart, Ever Faithful" (J. S. Bach), "With Verdure Clad" ("Creation") (Haydn), Mrs. T. H. Johns; "Piece Heroique" (C. Franck); "Ave Maria" (M. E. Bossi); "The Squirrel" (Scherzino) (Weaver); "Echo" (P. Yon); "Hymn of Glory" (P. Yon).

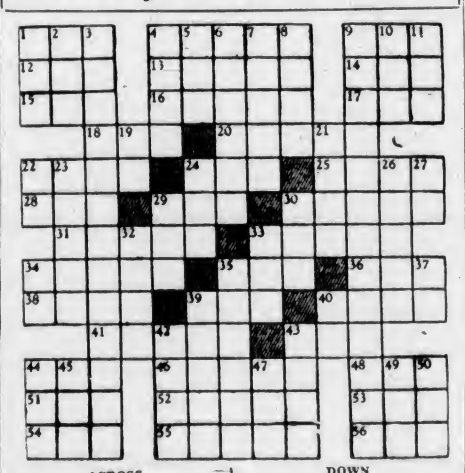

PLANETS TO BE DEBATE SUBJECT

Are there such beings as Martians? If so, what would life be like in comparison to ours? What is the possibility of life on Venus? These and many similar questions will be thoroughly reviewed at the next meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, to be held in the Y.W.C.A. tomorrow at 8 p.m.

There will be two speakers, Wilfred R. Hobday and A. I. Deacon. The former taking the affirmative side of the question, while the latter will present arguments against the possibility of life on other planets. Numerous lantern slides will be used by the speakers, and finally the audience will be asked to decide the fate of the planets by a vote.

The debate will be preceded by a description of the constellations and interesting celestial phenomena by Robert Peters. The public is invited to attend.

Little Stories for Bedtime

A Great Commotion

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A great commotion had broken out in the Old Orchard. Instantly Skimmer the Swallow flew over to see what it was all about and Peter Rabbit followed lipperty-lipperty-lip as fast as his legs could take him. He was just in time to see Chatterer the Red Squirrel dodging around the trunk of a tree, first on one side, then on the other, to avoid the sharp bills of the angry feathered folk who had discovered him trying to rob a nest of its young.

Peter chuckled. "Chatterer is getting just what is due him," he muttered. "It reminds me of a time I got into a Yellow Jacket's nest. My, but those birds are mad."

Chatterer continued to dodge from side to side of the tree while the birds darted down at him, all screaming at the top of their voices. Finally Chatterer saw his chance to run for the old stone wall. Only one bird was quick enough to catch up with him and that one was such a tiny fellow that he seemed hardly bigger than a big insect. It was Hummer the Hummingbird.

Hummer followed Chatterer to the old stone wall. A moment later Peter heard a humming noise just over his head and looked up to see Hummer alight on a twig where he squeaked excitedly for a few minutes, for his voice is nothing but a little squeak. Often Peter had seen Hummer darting from flower to flower and holding himself still in midair as he thrust his long bill into the heart of a flower to get the tiny insects there and the sweet juices he is so fond of. But this is the first time Peter had seen him sitting still. He was such a mite of a thing that it was hard to realize that he was a bird. His back was a bright shining green. His wings and tail were brownish with a purplish tinge. Underneath he was whitish. But it was his throat on which Peter fixed his eyes. It was a wonderful ruby red which glistened and shone in the sun like a jewel.

It was their nest

Hummer lifted one wing and with his long needle-like bill smoothed the feathers under it. Then he darted out into the air, his wings moving so fast that Peter couldn't see them at all. But if he couldn't see them he could hear them. You see, they moved so fast that they made a sound very like the humming of Bumble the Bee. It is because of this that he is called the Hummingbird.

In a few minutes he was back again and almost at once was joined by Mrs. Hummer. She was dressed very much like him, but did not have the beautiful ruby throat. She stopped only a minute or two and then darted over to what looked for all the world like a tiny cup of moss. It was their nest.

Impressed With Neighborliness Seen in Canada

Capt. Philip R. Davies-Cooke, of Doncaster, England, a warden of King George's Jubilee Trust Fund, and Mrs. Davies-Cooke are at the Empress Hotel.

They said they were particularly impressed with the spirit of neighborly friendliness in Canada, not only in private life, but also in the business world.

The King's Jubilee Trust Fund, Captain Davies-Cooke explained, was being devoted to the youth movement of Britain for the education of the youth of the country in crafts of civilization and not the crafts of war, so evident in other European countries in these critical days.

The visitors have enjoyed much fishing at Cowichan Bay and Qualicum Beach. They also visited Port Alberni, where they were shown over the mill operations of the Alberni-Pacific Lumber Company.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

ROUND SHOULDERS AND SPINAL CURVATURE

The day may come when the seats for school children will be made to fit the back, the desks will be at the proper angle to suit the eyes, the blackboard will be so adjusted that every child will see it properly from his seat. However, that day is not here yet and in the meantime a certain percentage of youngsters are going to acquire a curvature of the spine, round shoulders, or both.

A school seat is now available with an adjustable back which supports the lower part of the back, gives the body erect posture and prevents "slouching" in the seat which is the forerunner of round shoulders and spinal curvature. If school boards are willing to investigate this matter they will find that the correct seat will not only prevent deformities but will tend to keep the boy or girl more alert in his or her studies.

Dr. Ledent, addressing the Belgian Orthopedic Society, showed that the schools were the producers of spinal curvature, particularly because of the school seat, which is often unadapted to the height of the children. On the other hand, parents who blame the school may fail to check up on the home furniture, particularly the chairs. They may fail to note the discordant height of the table at which a younger child sits uncomfortably suspended, while a tall youth bends over, thus accentuating a tendency to round shoulders and spinal curvature.

Dr. Ledent produced figures to show that a number of cases of spinal curvature could be reduced from twenty per cent to seven per cent if proper physicial education is instituted in the school. In other words if the children are taught to play, are given systematic and corrective exercises, there will be this great improvement in physique and a lessening of the number of cases of spinal curvature even if no change in the seats or desks are made.

The simplest method of interesting youngsters in their physique is to have them stand sideways to a mirror. They can thus observe the drooping head, flat chest, protruding abdomen so commonly seen. Then instruct them to stand as "tall" as they can. Immediately the head goes back, the chest comes forward, the abdomen straightens or is drawn backward and the whole appearance is changed.

"Standing tall" and "sitting tall," together with abdominal exercises, will prevent round shoulders and spinal curvature.

EDMONTON GRADS RETAIN INTERNATIONAL TITLE

Americans After Play-Off Berth; Team Much Better

Manager Red Dutton Expects to Go Somewhere With New York Hockey Squad This Season—Worters Back in Net—Has Smart Front Line—Defence is Sound

OSHAWA, Ont., Oct. 28 (CP).—So thoughtful has the front office of the New York Americans been this Fall to Marvin (Red) Dutton, in whose hands the managerial reins were placed, that all the big red-head has to do this Winter is bring home a National Hockey League play-off berth. It will be a blend of age and youth on which Owner Bill Dwyer, of New York, and Manager Dutton base their hopes. Little Roy Worters, who isn't much younger than the N.H.L.'s oldest goaltender, will be back between the posts. In training here, Worters has shown no sign of slipping from among the game's best custodians.

ROY WORTERS

Dutton and Bill Bridge will do the major share of defence work.

To bolster the first-string line of Art Chapman, Sweeney Schringer and Lorne Carr, the Americans will have such performers as Nels Stewart, obtained from the Boston Bruins; Harold Cotton, purchased from Toronto; Carl Voss and Eddie Finnigan, who came to the New York club in the St. Louis split-up.

The Schriner-Chapman-Carr line was one of the most potent scoring trios in the N.H.L. last season, featuring the brilliant freshman from Calgary, Schriner, who was the year's outstanding rookie. The three have showed great form in practice this Fall.

Cotton, veteran left winger, and Stewart, for years one of the league's colorful figures and high scorers, are expected to provide Americans with considerable goal-getting powers. Dutton hasn't decided definitely who will work along the right boards with these two.

HAS MATERIAL

Dutton can choose other forwards from the following: Normie Himes, "Happy" Emms, Ded Klein, Ty Oliver, Lloyd Jackson, Fred Hergert, Tommy Anderson and several amateurs who have impressed the New York manager in training. Several of them will play with Rochester's International League team.

Defence help will be recruited from Joe Jerwa, purchased with Stewart from Boston; Al Murray, an experienced campaigner, and "Red" Doran, who also has spent some time with the Americans. Jerwa seems certain to be carried.

It will be the first American team in years without "Rabbit" McVeich, released when the Dwyer search for new help got under way. Sentiment doesn't count any more in the New York club. Dutton is paying off on ability that will lead to the play-offs next Spring.

LARGE FIELD TO START IN ANNUAL RACE

Forty-Two Horses to Face Barrier in Cambridgeshire Stakes Tomorrow

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 28 (CP).—Forty-two horses—the largest field since the Great War—will contest the classic Cambridgeshire here on Wednesday.

As usual the race is regarded as almost an open one. Some racing writers are telling the public to refrain from betting, but there is considerable confidence behind Pegasus, favorite at 17 to 2.

Nearly all experts are calling the winner to come from the select company of Pegasus, Wychwood Abbot, Negundo, Boethius and O'Grady.

G. Lambton, trainer of Negundo, Pepino and Boethius, refused to express an opinion. After training Faites Vos Jeux, Solarium and Guinea Gap, H. L. Cottrill also declined to talk.

LATEST ODDS

The call-over follows:

Pegasus, 17 to 2; Finalist, 9 to 1; Law Court, 100 to 9; British Quota and Boethius, 18 to 1; O'Grady, 20 to 1; Negundo, Monico and Wychwood Abbot, 22 to 1; Almond Hill, 28 to 1; Trigo Verde, Valerius and Guinea Gap, 33 to 1; Plymouth Sound, Caymanas, the Blue Boy and Highlander, 35 to 1; Pepino, William of Valence, Inflation, Faites Vos Jeux, Commander 111 and Lordling, 40 to 1; Iron Grey, Gunboat, Papyrette and Hairan, 50 to 1; Flake, 60 to 1; Solarium and Rodeo, 66 to 1; Heavyweight, 80 to 1, and others, 100 to 1.

FAMOUS PRAIRIE QUINTETTE DOWNS ST. LOUIS CAGERS

Set Back American Challengers in Third Straight Fixture to Keep Honors for Another Year—Score Is 43-24—Last Game for Grads With Percy Page Coaching Them

EDMONTON, Oct. 28 (CP).—Edmonton Commercial Grads tonight took the third straight game from St. Louis Shaw-Stephens, 43-24, and ended a series in defence of their international women's basketball championship. The game marked the last in which Coach J. Percy Page, who built the original Grad team to champions back in 1923, would be at the coaching helm.

The game also marked the retirement of Margaret MacBurney, a veteran of ten years, who is hanging up her playing togs after playing with the Grads since 1925.

In contrast to the crowds of approximately five thousand that watched the first two games, less than three hundred persons were at the game while snow blanketed the city.

The chilly arena caused a hitch in the smooth teamwork of the Grads and they trailed through most of the first half, barely going ahead 17-15 at halftime, after trailing 8-6 at quarter-time.

After warming up in the second quarter, the team clicked in the third to run the count up to 28-20 and widened the gap in the last quarter.

GREAT RECORD

The Grads have held the Alberta championship continuously since 1922, under the guidance of Coach Page. The Canadian championship has also been theirs for many years, as well as the world's title, international honors and the Olympic laurels, which means Percy Page has won more glory for a single team than any other living basketball mentor.

Arnold Henderson, former keyman of the University of British Columbia quintette, will take over the coaching duties of the famous squad, but Page will be in there as manager and help Henderson direct the team during games.

The line-ups:

St. Louis—Mary Dueker (7), Alois Mertensmeyer (1), Mary Rudis (2), Catherine Dueker (3), Dorothy Dueker, Bernice Frillman (6), Helen Moon (2), Betty Carpentier (3) and Irene Piper (not on floor). Total, 24.

Edmonton—Margaret MacBurney (6), Babe Belanger (8), Noel MacDonald (8), Gladys Fry (6), Doris Neale (10), Mabel Munton, Etta Dann (2), Helen Northup and Sophie Brown (3). Total, 43.

Officials—George Parney, Edmonton, and Harry Wilson, Chicago.

MIXED CARD IS LINED UP

Mount Stephen Athletic Club To Hold Show at Local Gym Tomorrow

With three wrestling and four boxing bouts lined up, Promoter Louis Callan will stage another of his popular mixed cards at the Tillicum gymnasium tomorrow night, he announced yesterday. The first bout will get under way at 8:30 and the card will be held by the Mount Stephen Athletic Club, which ran off so many successful outdoor shows during the Summer months.

The local matchmaker has had numerous requests by the public to hold another card and therefore he was busy yesterday getting the boys for both wrestling and boxing. The latter part of his show will be announced later, but three well-matched mat exhibitions were completed.

Barney Lane, seventeen-year-old grappler, has been secured for the main event against Wally Edwards, the Cedar Hill Wildcat. They will go four five-minute rounds. In their last match the boys wrestled to a draw after an extra round, so they expect to come to a decision in the return argument. Bud Kirchin and Bing Quong will appear in a four four-minute bout and Jack Lacey and George Lowe will go the same distance.

Callan will be the third man in the ring for all bouts.

Meralomas Defeat V.A.C. Grid Squad; Will Meet Calgary

Tom Ferris Plays Major Role as Teammates Turn Back Clubmen, 8-1—Winners Will Tackle Calgary in Inter-Provincial Series

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (CP).—Vancouver Meralomas downed Vancouver Athletic Club gridders, 8-1, here tonight to break a tie for leadership of the Big Three Canadian Football League and earned the right to meet Calgary in the inter-provincial play-downs.

Lanky Tom Ferris, smart young end with the orange and black clubbers, who is pulled back to do most of the kicking, literally booted his teammates to victory as he hoisted two field goals over the Vacs' bars and his onside kick rolled to the deadline for another point. Joe Ross, husky young halfback, counted the other point for the Meralomas, while Bus Haugh's kick to the deadline accounted for the lone Vac point.

Haugh's point came early in the first quarter with Vacs on the Meralomas' twenty-five-yard line and unable to make yardage on two bucks.

Ferris put the Meralomas on top late in the second quarter when he booted a perfect kick from forty yards out, giving his teammates a 3-1 lead at halftime.

OPENS SCORE

A Vac fumble on the kick-off on their own five-yard line gave Meralomas possession and Ferris' onside kick rolled to the deadline for a single point.

Meralomas received another Vac fumble on their twenty-eight-yard line on the next play and Ross hoisted the ball to the deadline for another point.

Ferris wound up the scoring in the closing minutes of the third quarter, booting his second placement of the night from an angle.

Vacs put up a determined battle in the final quarter but penalties robbed them of numerous opportunities after they had advanced into scoring position.

Molly Small intercepted a Meralomas' lateral pass on the orange and black twenty-yard line and carried the ball to the ten-yard line.

An attempted forward pass across the goal line, Don Stewart to Hal Weinker, was intercepted by Norm Kindred, of Meralomas, just as the final whistle blew.

Line-ups:

Meralomas—Merin, Goranko, Bassett, Lawrence, McPherson, Ferris, R. Lowe, Hunt, A. Lowe, Ross, Williams, Kindred, Garland, Douglas, Garvin, Shannon, Barrett, Campbell, Tough, Hooper, Edmonds, Cameron and Payne.

V.A.C.—Parsons, Ellison, McKenzie, Workman, Turnbull, Weinker, Steele, Stewart, Haugh, Farrington, Mariacher, Stokes, Small, Bishop, Kendall, Nett, Hindle, Rader, Downie, Keil, Slater, Robson, Spencer and Lewis.

Secured for Match Here Saturday

VINCENT LOPEZ

OF Mexico, who holds the unofficial world's heavyweight wrestling championship, who has been matched for the main event on Promoter Fred Richardson's mat card, Saturday night, at the Tillicum gymnasium. Lopez is one of the smartest heavies in the game today, and since winning the big tournament staged recently in California he has claimed the title, which is officially held by Danno O'Mahony, the Irishman. The Mexican has appeared in fifty-four matches since turning professional, and has captured every one in two straight falls. He has pinned Gus Sonnenberg, former champion, and Jim Browning, and is now gunning for a match with O'Mahony. A strong opponent will be secured for Lopez, while two other bouts, one the usual preliminary and a good semi-windup, will be arranged and announced later by the matchmaker.

AMERKS SIGN YOUNGSTERS

Trio of Rookies Join New York Club—All Regulars On Dotted Line

OSHAWA, Ont., Oct. 28 (CP).—Nakina Smith, former Sudbury junior centre star; Walter (Whitey) Sarrant, Toronto wingman, and Wilf Field, Winnipeg, were signed tonight by New York Americans of the National Hockey League, Business Manager Martin Shenker announced. All three will be optioned out to the Rochester club of the International League for experience.

Murray, defenceman, is on the injured list, while Pete Leswick, amateur from Saskatoon, suffered a sprained ankle during practice today. It was at first believed a bone was broken, but an X-ray examination discounted this.

Manager Red Dutton was enthusiastic over the signing of the three amateurs. Smith played last season with Oshawa's team in the Toronto and York Mercantile League, leading the league in scoring. Field, a defenceman, played with Winnipeg Monarchs, Memorial Cup champions last season, and Farrant, a right winger, with Toronto All-Stars of the senior O.H.A.

WALKER HEADS PINCH HITTERS

Member of Champion Detroit Tigers Had Average of .462 for Season

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP).—The pinch-hitter—the forgotten men of baseball until they're needed—accounted for thirty-one victories during the American League season of 1935, although they didn't compile as good batting averages as they did the previous year.

Official records made public today show Gerald Walker of the world-champion Detroit Tigers, as the most consistent pinch-hitter of the junior circuit, and Ralph Winegarner, of Cleveland, and Edmund "Bing" Miller Boston veteran, as the most successful.

Walker made six hits in thirteen appearances in the pinch-hit role during the season for a .462 average. Winegarner, while hitting only .320 at the job, won six games by belting six singles, a double and a home run in the "clutches." Miller, who started the year as a coach, won five games for the Red Sox by pinch blows, and Wes Ferrell four.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Father of Seventy-Two—Jacob Hunter's record which ranks him with the Great Fathers of his State still lives in the oral traditions of his descendants. The old patriarch, who attained to the age of five score and six, was married five times and was the father of seventy-two children. To the last, he preserved a full set of teeth, and was a picture of rugged health. The respective ages of his children were so widely spread, that some of the brothers were strangers to one another. It was impossible to gauge the number of Hunter's descendants surviving to the present day, but, they are undoubtedly very numerous.

Four Rugby Fixtures Are Scheduled For Saturday Afternoon

TWO senior and a like number of games in the intermediate division is the Rugby menu set for the fans this Saturday. Allotting of the grounds were made at the weekly meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union yesterday in The Colonist board room. Navy will meet the Garrison on the upper field at Macdonald Park and the Bays-Wanderers take on the Canadian Scottish on the lower pitch. In the other section, 5th Brigade tackles Wanderers Whites at Oak Bay Park and Canadian Scottish meets Wanderers Blues at the same playing field. All games will start at 3 o'clock. The selection committee to pick out "rep" material will be named next week, and a trial game will be played before the fifteen is selected for the match against U.B.C., December 26, at Macdonald Park.

TWO LEAGUE SOCCER MATCHES SET FOR SATURDAY

Esquimalt Will Battle Victoria West in Feature

Joint Holders of First Place and Greenshirts to Play at Bullen Park—Saanich Thistles Face Victoria City—United to Travel Following Week—Meet Rangers

After two weeks of cup competition and inter-city football, teams in the first division of the Victoria and District League will swing back to regular league fixtures this Saturday, Secretary J. R. Jones announced yesterday. It will mark the fourth round of the present series and sees Esquimalt, joint holders of top position with Victoria City, clashing with Victoria West, who are tied with Saanich Thistles, at Bullen Park, and the Saanich lads meeting the City at the Royal Athletic Park. Both matches will start at 2:30. Al McKinnon will referee at the enclosure and Dave Swan at Bullen Park.

In the second division, Saanich Thistles and Esquimalt meet at Upper Beacon Hill, with T. M. Robb in charge, and Victoria West against the City footballers at Heywood Avenue, with W. J. Cull as referee.

UNITED TO TRAVEL

Victoria United, who gained a draw against North Shore here Thanksgiving Day, will travel the following week to the Mainland to meet Vancouver Rangers in an Inter-City Football League fixture. The team will be selected at a meeting to be held next Monday in The Colonist board room.

While the representative side is battling for the points in Vancouver, the first of a series of games between select sides from the first and second division will be played at the Royal Athletic Park for the Phoenix Cup. The two divisions will probably play a two-out-of-three series and the entire proceeds will go to the injured players fund.

A change in the standings will take place following Saturday's matches. The Esquimalt-Victoria West fixture should hold the spotlight. In their last tussle, the dockers worked their way to a 2-1 decision, but the least the greenshirts should have gotten from that encounter was a draw for they had the better of the play most of the time, but failure to capitalize on their scoring opportunities, cost them the points. Victoria West blanked Saanich Thistles not long ago and then beat the dockers in the first round of the Milton Cup competition, 2-1, in a match which was on the verge of going into overtime.

The Thistles and City will renew activities where they left off last week in the other semi-final of the Milton Cup series, a tussle which the latter eleven won by a 2-1 score. Played in a heavy fog, the City netted both tallies in the opening half, but at that had to stand off a determined bid by the Thistles to earn victory, which put them in the final against the Wests.

Fourth Annual Golf Meet to Be Held at Uplands

THE fourth annual Remembrance Day golf tournament for the Dillabough-Angus Cup will be held at the Uplands Club on Armistice Day, November 11, it was announced yesterday by officials. The competition is open to all ex-service men on the Island, and annually is one of the most successful meets held at the popular links. Last year Tom Morrison won the honors and he is expected to defend the silverware next month. The tournament will be over eighteen holes medal play on handicap and another large field will, no doubt, face the starter. Those wishing to play are asked to communicate with Walter Gravlin, professional at the Uplands Golf Club.

Phillips Gets Decision

Football Team Will Not Play; Series Is Off

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP).—With the refusal tonight of Frood Mines, Northern Ontario champions, to participate in the National League soccer finals this year, the three-cornered play-off between Ulster United of Toronto, Aldred of Montreal and Frood, was declared off for the season. Instead, the play-offs will be held at the start of next season, George McBain, secretary of the National League, announced.

The play-offs were to have started here next Saturday with Frood pitted against Ulster United. Ulster are champions of the western section of the National League and Aldred are champions of the eastern division.

FIGHT CARD SET FRIDAY

Promoter Drysdale to Stage Show at Tillicum Gym—Parker Matched

With Bobby Parker, Canadian Scottish fighter, meeting Julius Troll, Vancouver, in the main event, Promoter Tommy Drysdale is busy putting together his mixed boxing and wrestling card, which will be held Friday night at the Tillicum gymnasium.

He has matched the hard-hitting Rudy Holstein, of Sooke, with Ted Dueberley, Vancouver, and is making every effort to secure Rex Carey and Frank Glover, Vancouver, light-heavyweight champion of the province, for another of his bouts. Glover lost a close decision to Muzz Patrick last year.

In the main wrestling event, Scotty McKay, veteran Vancouver grappler, will oppose Bill Steen, well-known local squirmer. The rest of the mat card will be announced later along with the remainder of the fistic programme.

The spotlight will fall on the Parker-Troll match as both boys are clever, shifty and are rapidly improving as first-rate fighters. Troll is present featherweight champ of the province, but will have to be at his best to gain the six-round decision from the smooth punching Victorian. Troll made a fine showing in the Canadian finals in Edmonton. Parker has been displaying fine form in the gymnasium and his trainer, Al McKinnon, is confident that his protege will step from the ring a winner.

BOB OLIN TO MEET LEWIS

To Defend Light-Heavyweight Title on Thursday Against Negro

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28 (AP).—Champion Bob Olin and John Henry Lewis, Negro challenger, today were officially pronounced physically fit for their light-heavyweight title clash on Thursday, as the promoters voiced unconcern at in injunction suit aimed at stopping the show.

Both fighters weighed 175 pounds as they appeared before the physician for the Missouri Boxing Commission.

Lew Raymond and Benny Greenberg, promoting the first championship fight in St. Louis in years, professed belief the show would go on after a hearing tomorrow on a request of the Madison Square Garden Corporation for an injunction prohibiting the fight.

The New York corporation asserts Olin had agreed to make his next title defence for the Garden management. He contends the agreement is void as the Garden had sufficient opportunity to arrange a bout and failed to act.

Over 250 Grapplers to Compete in $15,000 Meet in The East

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28 (CP).—Plans for a heavyweight wrestling elimination tournament, bringing together 250 grapplers for a shot at a $15,000 prize and the ranking of "outstanding challenger" for the world's title, were laid today.

A group of men, including Promoter Ray Fabiani, of Philadelphia, and "Toots" Mondt, one-time wrestler from Los Angeles, met and formed an organization to conduct the tourney.

The event will start here November 22 under the auspices of a corporation, the groundwork for which was laid today.

Percy Gardner, of Toronto, was listed among the directors of the corporation.

Matches will be staged twice weekly, the tournament continuing for several months if necessary.

Fabiani said he conceived the idea of the tournament after Danno O'Mahony, the title claimant, did not appear for his scheduled match with Serge Kalmikoff, of Russia, here last Friday.

"It made me realize," the promoter said, "I was too much at the mercy of a fickle champion."

Marcel Thil in Fight Victory Over U.S. Boxer

PARIS, Oct. 28 (AP).—Marcel Thil, recognized in some parts of the world as middleweight boxing champion, turned back Al Diamond, of Paterson, N.J., in a ten-round non-title fight tonight.

The Frenchman put Diamond on the defensive in the first round and then, with pounding rights and lefts that left the loser's body and face badly bruised, took every other round.

Shadbolt Lifts Colonist Trophy

SOCCER SQUADS JOIN SENIORS

NANAIMO, Oct. 28.—Two local teams, Southend and South Wellington, have left the Junior Football Association and gone senior. This is the result of the recent ruling of the football authorities that junior players must not be over the age of twenty-one. Harewood and Duncan are expected to join the new senior teams, and form a four-team league for this season.

M. M. Fraser, president of the British Columbia Junior Association, returned yesterday from Cumberland and Alberni, where he went to consult football officials in regard to forming an intermediate division in football. He explained that the same rules would govern intermediate play as formerly in junior, except that there would be no age limit. Four teams joined at Cumberland, and five at Alberni, Fraser reported. He was not given encouragement by Nanaimo junior officials, who intend to go ahead with their senior league.

Sunday Southend and South Wellington played an exhibition game which was won by South Wellington, 4 to 2.

Mrs. Bennett Wins

Returning a card of 83-3—80, Mrs. Bennett was declared the winner of the Autumn Cup yesterday at the Royal Colwood Golf Club. The tournament is staged annually and the competitor with the best three-card electic takes possession of the trophy.

FINANCE - COMMERCE - MARKETS

Security Prices Turn Softer at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP).—The sellers had a shade the better of it today in the daily market encounter with their bullish fellow-traders.

The bulk of the stock list gave a little ground in relatively quiet dealings, but the bulls had their innings with a few specialties, some rails, which were mostly steady, and at times firm, and a few non-ferrous metal shares.

Measured by the Associated Press average of sixty stocks the net decline for the day was .2 of a point at 52.7. Turnover in the stock exchange was 2,114,710 shares, a considerably quieter hourly rate than during most of last week.

A reactionary trend in leading commodities helped to restrain buying and encourage profit-taking in the stock market.

Among issues which moved against the trend to register gains of major fractions to around a point or a little more included Westinghouse at 89 1-8, and Anaconda at 21 7-8.

Others down about as much included Chrysler at 86 5-9, General Motors at 53 1-4, International Harvester at 58 1-4, Standard Oil of New Jersey at 49, and American Telephone at 144.

Sharp setbacks in a number of domestic corporation and foreign issues gave the listed bond market a ragged appearance.

All types of Italian bonds dropped 2 to more than 4 points.

Particularly soft spots in the corporate list included Paramount 6's, off 4 1-2 at 92; Studebaker 6's, off 3 1-4 at 68 3-4.

WHEAT CLOSES OFF TWO CENTS

Futures Decline at Winnipeg As Outside Markets Turn Softer

WINNIPEG, Oct. 28 (CP).—Slipping quotations in outside markets today led to lower grain prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Quotations ended an unsettled session 1 7-8 to 2 cents off.

The October future closed at 85 cents, 2 1-2 cents under the Canadian wheat board's 87 1-2-cent minimum price for No. 1 Northern wheat. November was at 85 7-8, December 85 1-4 and May 89 1-4 to 3-8 cents.

The sale for export of an estimated 200,000 bushels of Canadian wheat did little more than slow up the decline.

Liverpool was off 1-2 to 3-8d while a 1 5-8-cent decline was registered at Chicago. Buenos Aires lost a cent.

Coarse grains prices held comparatively steady. Cash grains trading continued dull.

FLIGHT . . .

by W. D. TIPTON and J. H. MASON

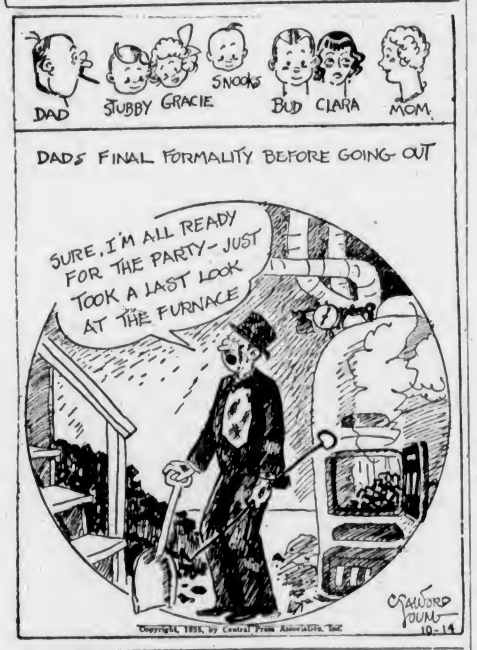

ONE of the new projects initiated by the Development Section of the Bureau of Air Commerce is the creation of an ultra-safe airplane, inexpensive to buy and operate, for the private owner. One of these designs is the Waterman "Arrowplane," so called because its wings are swept back like the head of an arrow.

This idea is not new—we had tailless airplanes in the pioneer days of aviation. The reason for the deletion of the tail is to give full use of the pusher propeller, and eliminate the drag of the tail booms and tail surfaces which normally are used for control.

The rudders are located at the tips of the swept-back wings. The ailerons are positioned at the trailing edges of the wings, but in addition to providing lateral control, serve as elevators, being pulled up or down together so as to make the airplane climb or dive.

The location of the engine at the rear of the cabin provides an unusually good view forward and down, a good thing for the novice pilot so that he can very clearly see obstacles over which he may be approaching a field for a landing. The three-wheeled landing gear prevents nose-overs in case the brakes are applied too harshly.

TO SELL ONE'S BIRTHRIGHT

To exchange an enduring benefit for a transient gain, to barter a fixed advantage for a passing satisfaction, to sacrifice a permanently superior position for a temporary profit—that is to sell one's birthright for a mess of pottage, the allusion being to the action of Esau as narrated in Genesis xxv.

"And Jacob at one time boiled pottage, and Esau came from the field and he was faint.

"And Esau said to Jacob, Let me swallow down, I pray thee, some of that yonder red pottage, for I am faint . . .

"And Jacob said, Sell me this day thy right of first-born.

"And Esau said, Behold, I am going to die, and what profit then can the right of first-born be to me?

"And Jacob said, Swear to me this day; and he swore unto him: and he sold his right of first-born unto Jacob.

"Then Jacob gave Esau bread and pottage of lentiles, and he did eat and drink, and he rose up, and went his way: thus Esau despised the birthright."

MAKES GREAT COMEBACK

LONDON, Oct. 22 (CP).—In his first appearance in senior football since he was injured nearly two years ago, Tommy Law, Chelsea's international fullback, played a brilliant game for the Pensioners against Leeds recently. He tackled, beat his man and controlled his kicks as well as ever he did.

UNLUCKY BRENTFORD PLAYER

BRENTFORD, England (CP). — Charles Walsh, Brentford inside forward transferred from Arsenal at a substantial fee two years ago, is unlikely to play soccer again. Walsh slipped in training and hurt his knee, specialists diagnosing the injury as a stretched ligament. He is married and has a daughter.

FEATHER IN HER HAT ~

by JULIE ANNE MOORE

CHAPTER XX

Ann's life during the three weeks following their return from Boston was as unreal as had been the news of Deane Runbrecker's brutal death. One was as incredible as the other.

She seemed to be two persons now, the girl she had been in Elmville, and this Ann of Washington, being questioned almost daily by the police, trying to hold her mind to her work through the long days, sleeping fitfully at night, momentarily expecting to be pulled out of bed and plied with questions again.

Mollie had observed the change in her and tried to persuade her to take a week off and go home for the Christmas holidays.

Lee too had been worried about her and though he had been to the apartment several times each week and had twice taken her to lunch, he had had the good sense not to talk about the subject nearest his heart. Once only had he referred to it. That was the second time he had taken her to lunch near her office. Suddenly, and without the slightest warning, he had said:

"I've got to be heading West again soon, Ann. I've got work to do. Why don't you pack your things and come along? There won't be any fuss. We'll just run over to the Elkton some early morning, come back and hop in the old ship and take off for parts unknown."

Afterwards Ann wondered why she hadn't jumped at the chance. It meant getting away from Washington and starting afresh.

She told Lee: "I wouldn't be fit to live with, Lee. Not the way things are now. There'll be an end to all this some day, I hope, and then I'll be able to think and know what I ought to do. You go on back to California and when you come East run in to see me."

But Lee had stayed on, without knowing exactly why himself, and only tonight he had come up for a few minutes with Bill and had gone off without saying anything about going back to what he called his job.

In the darkness of the bedroom, Ann watched the nightly procession of memories that began with their first arrival in Washington, every somber reflection pulling another along behind it until, step by step, she came back to the present.

After three weeks the police were not able to throw any light on the mysterious murder of Deane Runbrecker. At eight-twelve Deane had been with them in the lobby of the Boston lecture hall. Within the next five minutes he had gone down to the men's lounging room. Less than eight hours later his dead body had been found in the Speaker's chair in the House of Representatives in Washington.

As far as she knew, the police had added but one important detail. Walking his rounds at three-thirty in the morning, a member of the Capitol police had noticed chalk writing on the locked door of the House of Representatives and on closer inspection read:

LOOK IN THE SPEAKER'S CHAIR

The man had reported to his superior and together they had gone into the chamber and discovered Deane's body. . . . That was all.

Ann had not been questioned alone. Always they were called together, Bill, Carl, Rita, Mollie and Ann. Though none of them had seen Selma since her brother's tragic end, Mollie brought the information that Selma had been questioned twice, once alone and once with her father.

It was the same tiresome examination each time, as if the police thought that by perseverance they would wear their nerves down to the point where they would be a disagreement . . .

Q. I believe you said, Miss Winslow, that Deane Runbrecker had lunch with the rest of you at about one o'clock Monday afternoon. Is that correct?

Mollie: yes.

Q. Do you, Miss Rogers, recall where he sat?

Ann: Vaguely, yes. Between Miss Winslow and his sister.

Q. Is that your recollection also, Miss Manley?"

Rita: Yes; but is wasn't important then and I might be mistaken.

Q. To get back to your statement a few moments ago, Mr. Balmer, you told us, I think, that after lunch you and Mr. Hudson and Deane Runbrecker left the hotel together in Mr. Hudson's car. Did the three of you stay together all afternoon?

Carl (who had been asked this question at least ten times before): We did not. Deane wanted to visit a friend at Harvard, so Mr. Hudson drove us over to Cambridge and let us out at Harvard Square. As I have explained several times before, I had promised to keep an eye on Deane while we were away, but I had no reason to believe he would try to skip, so while he went into college yard, I went across to the cooperative store and browsed around. Deane had promised to meet me there in thirty minutes.—After waiting almost two hours, I took a subway train back to Boston, called the police from a Tremont Street drug store and gave them Deane's description, and then, on chance, went to the South Station where I found Deane at a ticket window.

Q. Did he offer any explanation as to why he hadn't met you as he had promised to do?

Carl: Only that he was sorry he had gone to Boston and had decided to take the first train back to Washington.

Q. I see. So then you took him back to the hotel?

Carl: No. We had an afternoon to kill, so we took a taxi back to the Common. Deane wanted to go to the movies and I agreed. It was seven o'clock when we came out, which meant we were too late to have dinner with the others at the hotel.

Q. Now, Miss Rogers—(Ann unconsciously stiffened every time her name was spoken)—will you tell us again when was the last time you saw Deane Runbrecker alive . . .?

That was the way it went. The same questions over and over again.

"Why can't they think up a new set of questions?" she wailed after one of these sessions. "Do they think one of us killed Deane and sprouted wings and flew down to Washington and propped the body up in the chair and then flew back to Boston? Can't they see we're telling the truth?"

* * *

As Ann and Rita were leaving the office one noon a man wearing a cap and dark glasses reached into the crowd in the corridor and caught Ann's arm. Rita was the first to recognize Lee, but when she was about to speak his name, he put a finger to his lips and shook his head.

"I get it," Rita said. Greta Garbo stuff. Well, children, this is where Rita gets the air, I suppose."

"Do you mind?" Lee asked, quietly.

Rita said she did not mind and walked away grinning.

"There's sort of dug-out up the street," Lee said to Ann. "It will be safer than a fussier restaurant—if you can stand it."

After fifteen minutes of almost complete silence, they left the lunch room and Lee signalled a taxi. Ann protested that she hadn't time to go anywhere, but Lee got her into the taxi. "We're just getting out of the crowd," he said. They stopped at Seventeenth and M Streets.

Lee walked with his hands shoved deep down in the pockets of his coat. They were crossing L Street before Lee spoke again.

"Ann," he said, not looking at her, "I'm heading for home at five o'clock."

Ann looked up. "For California—tonight?"

He nodded. "Thought I'd try to set a new mark for the east-to-west hop. If nothing happens to prevent it, I'll have breakfast with my mother in Los Angeles."

Ann counted the lines in the sidewalk they crossed. After a time she said, "I'll miss you, Lee. You're been awfully nice to me." And then, moved by a generous impulse that was as much a surprise to her as to Lee, she told him, "I hope you'll tell your mother how sorry I am about what happened at the hospital. From her point of view, she was right, and I shouldn't have resented what she said."

"Funny," Lee smiled, "but Mother says she was wrong. I was to deliver a message to you, but I never had an opportunity. When I was leaving, she said if I didn't bring you home with me, she'd turn me out of the house. I'll have to tell her I'll do it next trip."

If he intended a question, Ann ignored it. They walked on. Lee broke the silence.

"I suppose I'd better not prolong this. I've got to pack and make a half a dozen courtesy calls before I leave."

Ann faced Lee, smiling. "Won't you take off the cap and glasses a minute, Lee? I'd like to have a last look at you."

He pulled off the cap and glasses and stuffed them in a coat pocket. "It isn't the last time, though. Will you keep this as a reminder that I'll be back before long?"

Ann stared at the little plush box. She had not seen him take it from his pocket.

"Please, Ann."

She bit her lip until it hurt, but when he put the box in her hand, she left it there.

"Well—" he said.

Ann continued to stare at her closed hand.

"I guess I'd better be running along. You'll write to me some time?"

A barely perceptible nod was her answer to this.

Lee looked at his watch. "You know, Ann—I think it would be a swell idea if you let me kiss you good-bye . . ."

As her head jerked up, Ann said, startled, "Not here, Lee!"

"Seeing as how it must be here or not at all." Lee grinned, "I still think it would be a swell idea."

Perhaps it was the curious stare of the two men who stood on the curb a dozen feet away that decided her. They had obviously recognized Lee and it was as if they were daring her to do what Lee had asked . . . Quickly she caught the lapels of Lee's coat, pulled up on her toes and waited. At the moment that Lee's lips touched hers, there was a flash and when she wheeled around she saw the two men hurrying away.

Lee laughed. "They got the back of your coat and your hat. You'll never be recognized." And then, completing a job only half done, he pulled her to him and kissed her again.
